Just-For-Fun Paintings Stir Viewers' Thoughts

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

Four years of "dashing, doodling and dreaming" with paint were framed into a special art show at the University of Nebraska Ag Campus.

It presented 15 uninhibited works by Kathy Thomazin, a senior coed with a talented brush.

"They (the paintings) make you think deeper," said one of the more than 400 viewers. Another noted: "You want to study them for hidden meanings."

But the artist from St. Edward, Neb., said: "They're just fun-type things."

Just For Relaxing

Majoring in fashion merchandising and buying, Kathy pointed out that the paintings were "only for relaxful fun."

All were done since she enrolled at the university. "The show resulted from a joke," she explained. "I kidded Sylvia McNeil, director of activities, about it, but she took me seriously."

"So we had a show."

Though she does frequent art work for the Ag Student Union, Kathy is not an aspiring artist. She has taken few art courses.

Each of the paintings displayed represented between 3 and 5 hours of work, she said, noting that most of her work was done in a "badly over-stuffed room" at the women's dormitory.

Reds Capture Nam Tha

U.S. SAYS REDS VIOLATING PACT

... Urges Ceasefire's Restoration

Washington (AP) — The State Department charged Sunday that the new heavy communist assault on the government bastion of Nam Tha in Laos violates the year-old ceasefire which has provided an uneasy peace in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

A spokesman said the United States will do everything possible to "restore the ceasefire."

In administration quarters here initial reaction to the apparently imminent loss of the town was regarded as simply an incident which should not be allowed to wreck the efforts for a peaceful settlement in Laos.

The United States, it was understood, will take this line in any informal discussion with the Soviet government as well as in working out Western policy on the matter with Britain.

The British government has a direct interest because Britain and Russia were co-chairmen of the Geneva conference which established the ceasefire.

United States policy has been to press for creation of a coalition government which would neutralize the country.

Jeopardizes

The Nam Tha flare-up obviously jeopardizes this diplomatic operation, but it has survived other crises in the last 12 months and President Kennedy is understood to be determined that it will also survive the new crisis if at all possible.

Nam Tha is the last stronghold of Royal Lao government forces close to the borders of neighboring communist powers — Red China and North Viet Nam. It has been involved in periodic military crises for months.

The United States is reported to have warned General Phoumi Nosavan, the pro-Western Lao leader, for several weeks that if he continued a buildup of his forces at Nam Tha the communist reaction would be to attack. Warnings of an attack were said to have reached U.S. officials from the Pathet Lao leadership unless the build-up was stopped.

"We regard this as a violation of the ceasefire," said press officer Robert J. McCloskey. "Nam Tha was not in Pathet Lao hands when the ceasefire went into effect in May of last year."

McCloskey said in response to questions that the United States would make "every effort to restore the ceasefire."

U.S., Britain Reassure Friends

... THEIR NUCLEAR ARMS WILL REMAIN POISED

Athens (AP) — The Atlantic Alliance ended its annual spring meeting Sunday with fresh assurances that American and British nuclear-armed strategic forces will remain poised for the defense of the West.

The assurances were designed to allay fears among some North Atlantic Treaty Organization members that the powerful nuclear strategic weapons might not be used in case of an attack on Western Europe by conventional communist forces. These nuclear strategic forces are not normally committed to NATO.

A communique winding up the 4-day session also emphasized that NATO would continue to guard against communist attack with a nuclear shield sharply bolstered by the assignment of 5 American Polaris submarines to its technical control.

New Examination

At the same time, the 15-nation alliance promised it would undertake a new examination of conventional military forces and report on the question in December in Paris. U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reportedly urged at a secret session Saturday that the NATO powers beef up their conventional ground forces as an essential part of the joint defense.

The communique "took

U.S. SET FOR RAPID SHIFT OF DIVISIONS

Athens (AP) — America's European allies have been assured that two full divisions of U.S. troops could be flown across the Atlantic in a matter of days should the need arise.

The equipment for the reinforcing divisions already is on the spot in Europe and the troops could be combat ready almost immediately after arrival, an informed source said.

The new potential in military mobility was unfolded before the spring policy review of the Atlantic Alliance, whose defense and foreign ministers ended their sessions Sunday.

Informed sources said 150,000 tons of equipment were shipped to Europe during the recent Berlin crisis to provide combat arms for reinforcing troops.

Another move to increase the mobility of U.S. troops will be the stationing of floating supply depots in remote areas.

ROYAL TROOPS LEAVE KEY CITY

... All 12 U.S. Advisers Brought Out

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — Pro-communist forces have captured Nam Tha, the royal government stronghold only 20 miles from Red China's border that has been under siege for 4 months.

The fall of the northwest provincial capital was announced Monday by both Premier Boun Oum's Vientiane government and Peiping radio in a report from Pathet Lao headquarters.

In 'Enemy' Hands

Boun Oum's Information Minister Bouavann Norasing said government forces — reportedly numbering 3,200 regulars and 1,800 volunteers — withdrew from Nam Tha and the provincial capital was now in "enemy" hands.

Peiping radio said Pathet Lao troops stormed the town Sunday in a counterattack after the government forces had launched an offensive.

A spokesman for the U.S. military assistance advisory group said all 12 U.S. advisers were brought out by helicopter after the attack began. The attack was described by the Americans as an apparently carefully planned and well coordinated thrust against the last government bastion along the Chinese Communist and North Viet Nam border.

Red Chinese Aid

News of the fresh attack came shortly after American military sources said they had confirming information that about 200 Chinese Communist troops took part in the attack that captured Muong Sing, enemy gateway to Nam Tha, last Thursday.

Muong Sing's airstrip, 20 miles northwest of Nam Tha, was a main supply route for the city under siege by the rebel Pathet Lao and Communist North Vietnamese troops since January.

Reports said the new attack began with heavy artillery barrage and that an infantry onslaught followed from several directions, with the main thrust coming from the northwest.

Pretty Good Fight

One American officer said government units put up "a pretty good fight."

Nam Tha defenders numbered about 3,200 regulars and 1,800 volunteers.

Information on the identity of the attacking forces was not immediately available. However, two North Viet Nam battalions recently were reported in government communiques to be in the area. This is in addition to at least 4 Pathet Lao battalions.

About 4 Battalions

American military sources estimated about 4 battalions took part in the attack from the northwest on Nam Tha. Sources could not estimate the strength of other pro-communist units which attacked the town from other directions — the east and southeast.

Reports of the fighting did not give any casualty figures.

Gun Wound Of Airman Investigated

Tommie L. Hudson, a 20-year-old airman, was in good condition early Monday at the Lincoln Air Force Base hospital with a bullet wound in his left thigh.

Police were probing the shooting, which occurred in the vicinity of 19 and R.

Hudson was taken to the base hospital by two other airmen before police were notified.

Police said the bullet was of small caliber and passed through Hudson's thigh without breaking the bone.

Left Car

They said Hudson told them he had left his girl's house near 28th and W, had car trouble and left his car at 22nd and T.

Hudson said he passed two men on the sidewalk near a lumber company at 19th and R, that one said: "Hey," Hudson said he saw a flash and heard the gunshot.

Two airman friends passed by within a few minutes and took him to the base in their car, Hudson said.

Police were questioning the two airmen, and also questioned several young civilians. They said they also planned to talk to Hudson's girl.

They said another man told them he had been using Hudson's car Sunday.

Hudson is an airman 3rd class with the 818th Civil Engineering Sqdn.

Omahan Dies 24 Hrs. After Crash

Omaha (AP)—George A. Davis, 28, of Omaha, died in a hospital Sunday night about 24 hours after he was injured in a two-car crash in an Omaha residential area.

Traffic investigators said a car driven by Davis was in collision with one driven by Billy Gene Jordan, also of Omaha. Jordan escaped serious injury.

Police said Davis was thrown from his car and one of the two vehicles may have passed over his body.

Dr. Shugrue, 28, Will Aid Chancellor Of NU

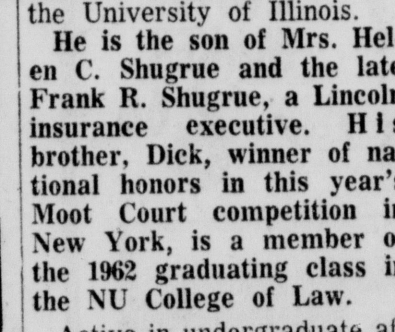

Dr. Michael Francis Shugrue, 28, a Cornhusker alumnus and currently a faculty member at the University of Illinois, will become assistant to the chancellor and an assistant professor of English at the University of Nebraska, effective June 18.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin Shugrue said Dr. Shugrue will devote most of his time to administrative work but will be a member of the English department faculty and may teach part time.

James S. Pittenger, who served as assistant to the chancellor from 1956 until recently assigned as athletic ticket manager, will continue with the department of athletics and will take on additional responsibilities as a special assistant to Athletic Director Tippy Dye.

Lincoln High Grad

Dr. Shugrue, a graduate of Lincoln High School, received his bachelor's degree from the University in 1956, his master's and doctor of philosophy degrees from Duke University in 1957 and 1960. For the past two years he has been teaching English at the University of Illinois. He is the son of Mrs. Helen C. Shugrue and the late Frank R. Shugrue, a Lincoln insurance executive. His brother, Dick, winner of national honors in this year's Moot Court competition in New York, is a member of the 1962 graduating class in the NU College of Law.

Active in undergraduate affairs at the University, Dr. Shugrue is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national collegiate scholastic honor society, and an alumnus of Innocents, senior men's honorary activity society at the University. As an undergraduate he was president of Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity; business manager of the Cornhusker yearbook; a staff member of the Daily Nebraskan; a member of Corn Cobs, men's service organization; and of the Newman Club, Catholic student society.

Dr. Shugrue has just completed work on a scholarly study of the 18th century sentimental novel, a volume soon to be published.

Art, Religion Conflict Though They Have Much In Common

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

Art and religion in the 20th century are not getting along at all well together even though they have much in common.

A theologian, a poet and an art critic were in fundamental agreement on this point Sunday night during one of the highlights of Lincoln's two-week Symposium on the Arts and Religion.

But the solution to the mutual isolation of art and religion is not as clear as the basic problem.

Dr. Samuel H. Miller, dean of Harvard Divinity School, suggested that not until society recovers the "integral, whole man" can the gap be bridged.

For Dr. John Frederick Nims, University of Illinois professor and poet, the answer in part might be found in recognizing that many so-called pagans can express religious meanings better than religionists.

Frank Getlein, art critic for New Republic Magazine and the Washington Post, said it will be at least 100 years before anything comes of the new recognition among artists that Christianity can be alive.

Dr. Miller blamed the fragmented modern life for the isolation of art from religion. "I cannot imagine how it is possible for religion to get along without art — art is the language through which religion communicates," he said.

The two are connected, Dr. Miller said, "if only we knew it." Instead, many think of church as a sort of mirrored boudoir where "we preen ourselves in the sight of God" and leave feeling good.

"The artists are sick of this preening," the widely quoted writer and lecturer declared.

"Religion is great when it redeems and not when it comforts you," Dr. Miller said. Art, too, is great only when it is redemptive.

Poet Agrees
A book or work of art about religion is not necessarily religious, he said. The poet on the panel agreed with him.

Dr. Nims, reading from e. e. cummings, Wallace Stevens, Hart Crane, Dylan Thomas and Karl Shapiro, asked the audience at Trinity Methodist Church to ponder if as good statements about basically Christian themes had come from religious men as had come from those poets. Often, he said, "poems which profess to be anti-Christian can be used religiously."

There is no great modern religious poetry, he claimed, because religious poetry has been defiled.

"It has been so cheaply handled by so many insincere people that it has to be approached carefully."

Art Mishandled
Getlein, also, bemoaned the mishandling of art by religionists using it for propaganda, making of Christianity a kind of "cotton candy" that is palatable to the public.

"For the moment," he said, "Christianity remains extremely peripheral to the motion of art," and vice versa.

The 3 speakers had been invited by the Lincoln Council of Churches to participate in the "Dialogue between the Arts and the Church," marking the half-way point, and to many people to highlight, of the symposium.

Art objects in the symposium will remain on display through Friday. Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis," performed by the University of Nebraska Symphony and Choral Union, will conclude the event next Sunday.

By Glenn Kreuscher, Farm Editor

Once a week an interesting roundup on what is happening in agricultural circles in the nation's capital arrives from James B. Dyess, executive vice president of the National Assn. of Wheat Growers.

In the recent Dyess letter a report on the Administration farm bill shows the Senate Committee on Agriculture turning from a permanent feed grain program proposed in the bill to a one-year extension of the feed grain program.

In addition, with the loss of the permanent feed grain program in the Senate version of the bill, the substitution clause permitting wheat to be grown on feed grain acres was also lost, Dyess said.

Among recommendations being made by the Wheat Growers Assn. for amendments to be made on the floor of the Senate is one to replace the temporary extension of the feed grain program with a permanent mandatory feed grain acreage control program.

Mrs. Clara Leopold, extension home management specialist, College of Agriculture, told 35 representatives of Seward Co. extension clubs that nearly 30,000 people are killed annually from misuse of common household products. The specialist cited a common bottle of silver cleaning solution as containing enough cyanide to kill 6 persons.

As the week began it appeared that chances were good in Washington to secure approval to plant non-surplus crops such as castor beans and safflower on diverted acres with farmers still receiving part payment on land designated as diverted from feed grain acreage.

The latest word we had from former State Senator Hans Jensen, now northwest area director of ASCS, was hopeful that immediate approval would be granted the program.

A few weeks ago everybody was talking about how wet the fields were — the tune has changed and during the past week and few farm conversations omit the need for rain to aid a dry topsoil.

Already, sprinkle irrigation systems are in action in the eastern part of the state and a report from Cozad indicates that the beet crop may need irrigation to start growth.

Dr. Louis M. Thompson of Iowa State University, has just issued a report that shows weather has had a major effect on the build-up of feed grain surplus during the past 4 years in the Corn Belt and Great Plains areas.

"To extend into the future a simple trend line drawn through yield data from 1950 to 1961, one would have to assume that weather will continue to improve at the same rate as it did from the early '50s to the late '50s. Such a view is very unrealistic when the amount of our surplus could disappear rapidly in another drought cycle," said Dr. Thompson.

Orville Freeman in an address to the Milwaukee Press Club said: "The saddest day for me since I became Secretary of Agriculture was Friday, March 30 — the day when all lawful and legal means to maintain dairy supports had been exhausted and the law said the Secretary must drop dairy supports."

Once each year the Northeast Lincoln Rotary Club invites farmers as guests. A recent meeting held during busy field work time found more than 50 farmers responding to invitations from their city friends.

Charles Haeseker, chairman of the evening program, said: "We know that Nebraska's economy is basically agriculture and that the economic position of our farmers affects business, industry, labor and every other segment of our society."

"The object of this event is to give us the pleasure of close association with our farmer friends and to promote the spirit of cooperation, mutual helpfulness and the high purpose which cannot help but succeed."

A new bulk tank for the milking parlor at the State Fair has been installed — 26,761 pounds of milk was sold from dairy cows on exhibit at the 1961 fair.

Segni Wins Approval In Hard Scrap

Rome (AP)—Pro-Western Antonio Segni was elected president of Italy Sunday night in a riotous session in parliament marked by name calling and fist fighting.

The Christian Democrat middle-roader who is cool to his own party's experiment with a left-leaning government finally won by 15 votes over the required majority of 428 on the 9th ballot in 5 days.

He was bitterly opposed by the communist-socialist left. But most of a rebel left wing of his own party, which had blocked his election in 5 successive ballots, was whipped back into line.

Segni's election came only 5 days before the official date for presidential election, May 11.

In the vote preceding the final balloting, fist fights broke out after Segni fell short of election by 4 votes. Chamber of Deputies President Giovanni Leone had ordered the start of a 9th ballot. Then communists and socialists shouted protests against an immediate new vote.

NU J-School's Place High In April Reports

The University of Nebraska School of Journalism has received the most points in the April interpretive-writing competition of the William Randolph Hearst Foundation's second annual journalism awards program.

Other high-scoring journalism schools were Stanford, Washington, Missouri and Syracuse Universities.

For their articles, Harold L. (Hal) Brown of Waterbury and Stephen Lough of Albion will receive Hearst Foundation scrolls.

Brown, a Lincoln Star staff member, placed 6th for his report on the effect on a town of its school being disapproved. Lough, a former Lincoln Journal staff member, placed 7th for his report on student political activity on Big 8 campuses.

April was the final month in this year's competition. On May 15, President Kennedy will announce the over-all student and journalism school winners for 1961-62. The winning student and journalism school's head will be invited to attend the Presidential award presentation, along with the chancellor of the winning university.

Activity is increasing as the Friday and Saturday dates for the 16th annual Spring Rodeo of the University of Nebraska Rodeo Club grows closer.

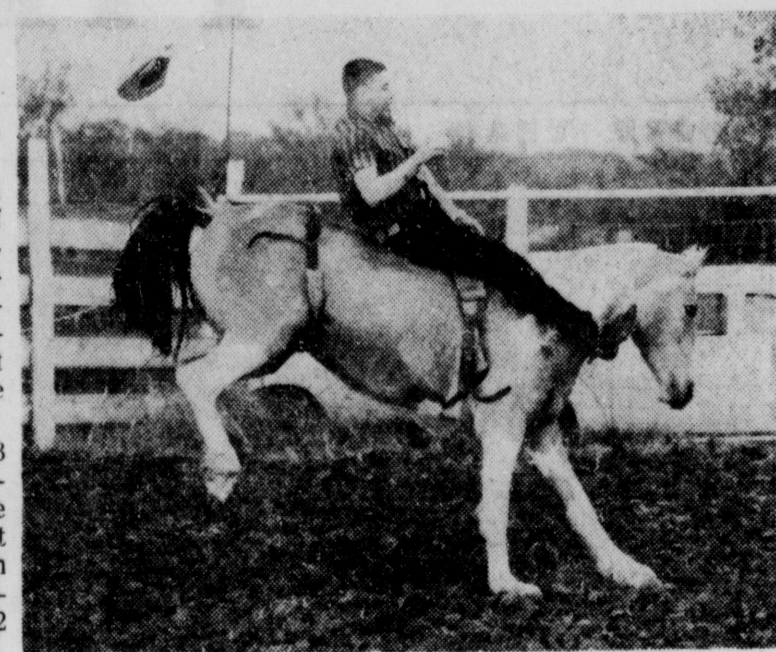

Contestants from a dozen Nebraska colleges, many of them with prior rodeo experience, are matched with professional rodeo stock that includes bucking broncs, Brahman bulls and wild steers that are a sure bet to provide chills, spills and thrills.

When the show opens at 8 Friday evening in the Fairgrounds Coliseum, it will be the first time since 1960 that 3 performances have been scheduled. Saturday the contestants will compete at 2 and at 8 p.m.

This year a fraternity cow-racing contest is planned, and in the Rodeo Queen contest a queen will be selected from 6 finalists Saturday.

John Lambert of Broken Bow, the club treasurer, and Vicky Ferrel, Wesleyan University sophomore from Imperial, will be defending their 1961 All-Around Cowboy and Cowgirl titles.

Expected to be a strong contender for the All-Around Cowboy honor is Bernie Pifer of Mason City, winner of the bull riding championship at the 1960 Nebraska High School Rodeo.

Jaycees Pick Don Brown State Prexy

Sidney (P) — Don Brown of Omaha was elected president of the Nebraska Jaycees Sunday as elections wound up the statewide convention.

Brown succeeds Jack Campbell of Lincoln.

Brown's election came on the 5th ballot. He defeated Roy Landis of Ogallala and Ivan Kaminski of Grand Island in the race.

Brown has served as president of the Hastings Junior Chamber of Commerce. In 1959-60 he was named as one of 10 state vice presidents in the nation.

The Jaycees elected 11 vice-presidents. They were LeRoy Brown of Kimball, Andy Collins of North Platte, Dick Foote of Hastings, Bob Gay of Columbus, Bob Gerdes of Fairbury, Mahlan Hansen of Aurora, Don Hagemoser of Seward, Winton (Red) King of Norfolk, Marvin Roth of Nebraska City, Win Saults of Gordon and Jim Sauter of McCook.

Small Town Physician Gets Big Celebration

By TED TURPIN
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
St. Paul — If even a portion of the more than 2,000 babies Dr. E. C. Hanisch has delivered show up here Tuesday, St. Paul is going to be awfully crowded.

Because that "Dr. Hanisch Day" at St. Paul, and local promoters expect nearly a thousand visitors.

Most of them will be townspeople and farmers that Dr. Hanisch has cared for during his 43 years of practice in the Howard County area.

Some will be babies delivered by the veteran physician, who have long since moved from the community but are returning to pay tribute to him.

E. C. Hanisch, 79, has a firm hold on the hearts of his fellow citizens.

Born in a sod house at Rockville, Neb., to German immigrant parents, Dr. Hanisch came to the St. Paul community in 1919. Today thousands know him throughout the central Nebraska area.

"I have never regretted my decision to come here," says Dr. Hanisch.

Always carrying a pocketful of chewing gum to hand out, the general practitioner won the confidence of his patients by serving them through blizzards, floods, and epidemics.

"I remember in '37 or '38 we had a diphtheria epidemic," he reminisced. "About 20 families were exposed to it at a social function in the country schoolhouse. We quarantined them all — every family."

"I wasn't very popular for a while," he said, "but we didn't lose a single case, and we stopped the epidemic from spreading."

There's no question about Dr. Hanisch's popularity these days, as witness plans for the program May 8, sponsored by the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce.

Local merchants will close their doors from 3 to 4 p.m. in honor of the physician, and a reception at the American Legion hall lasts from 3 to 5 p.m. A band concert is also scheduled.

The big banquet at St. Paul's high school begins at 7 p.m.

At that event, special recognition will be given to Dr. Hanisch's "babies" present — and there is expected to be a lot of them.

2 Omahans Arrested For Opening Sunday

Omaha (P) — Police booked two men Sunday for violation of the new Omaha Sunday closing ordinance.

Police inspector Jean Whinnery said they were Joseph S. Sharp, 36, Omaha, a vice president of the A. C. Nelson Co. and Howard A. Minnear, 48, Omaha, a salesman for the company.

Inspector Whinnery said they were free under $100 bond each after they were booked on charges of displaying and/or selling mobile homes in violation of the ordinance.

MERLIN DAAKE DIES IN CRASH

Woodland, N.C. (P) — Two men were killed Saturday night in an auto wreck on U.S. 258 near this northeastern North Carolina village.

The victims were identified as Merlin E. Daake, 21, of Kearney, Neb., and David Elbert, 26, whose address was listed only as Pennsylvania.

The highway patrol said the pair were riding in a car which pulled out to pass another vehicle and slammed head-on into a tractor-trailer truck.

State's Industrial Assets Display Unveiled Monday

Omaha (P) — A permanent display portraying Nebraska's industrial advantages will be unveiled at Omaha's Eppley Air Terminal at 11:30 a.m. Monday.

The display was constructed for the Division of Nebraska Resources and the space for it in the terminal lobby was donated by the Omaha Airport Authority.

The exhibit is approximately 9 feet high and revolves slowly to display 8 panels which tell the state's advantages by means of 3-dimensional artwork and colored photographs.

The vice president of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, Marvin G. Schmidt, will preside at the ceremony. Agricultural Director Pearl Finigan will represent Governor Morrison.

Others participating will be Bennett Martin, Lincoln, president of the Nebraska Resources Foundation; Arthur C. Storz Sr., chairman of the Omaha Airport Authority, and C. F. (Pat) Moulton, vice president of the Omaha Industrial Foundation.

The Nebraska Resources Committee and Foundation, the advisory group to the state's Resources Division, will hold its quarterly meeting in conjunction with the display unveiling.

Richards Sees Possibility Of State Drouth

Orleans—"With the growing possibility of a drouth in central and western Nebraska, it becomes imperative that the area be represented in Congress by someone who understands agriculture," Bill Richards told those attending a fund-raising dinner for him.

The Orleans farmer-rancher candidate for Congress in Nebraska's new Third District said the "district's economy is almost totally dependent upon agriculture and with the agricultural cost-price squeeze growing more acute each day and prospects of a drouth it is imperative that the congressman from this area be one who understands farming and ranching from first-hand experience."

"Even for a stop-gap program, we can't accept the dictatorial controls proposed by the Kennedy administration. If farmers give up any more of their freedom, they may become permanent serfs of the government. We need a congressman to champion the cause of Nebraska agriculture in this fight against agricultural slavery," Richards declared.

The long-range solution is an all-out program to find industrial uses for agricultural products. Only three-tenths of one per cent of the U.S. Department of Agriculture budget is being invested in such research," he said.

Lions Set Convention

Omaha (P) — The director of services for the blind and visually handicapped for the state of South Dakota, Howard Hansen of Pierre, will be among speakers at the Nebraska Lions convention May 19-21.

Program officials also said the entertainment program will be highlighted by appearance of Edwin L. Baron, hypnotist from Chicago.

Indian Artifacts Worth The Digging

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Superior — Give the Republican Valley back to the Indians?

Nope, Bernard (Bud) Umbach doesn't suggest that. But he does wish the valley could keep giving the Indians back to this country.

With all the interest in flood control and irrigation, he's having trouble digging up more arrowheads and hide-scrapers and other artifacts. Lately, he's been able to add little to his collection of "only a couple thousand pieces."

"One of the best Indian camps around was on White Rock Creek, and now it's under the waters of Lovewell Dam," he lamented. "At least two other sources of supply were ruined by sodding the reservoir's shore line."

The city electrician has been a collector for decades, ever since he discovered as a Riverton youth that the valley had been a tribal hot-spot for the Sioux and Pawnees. Nearly all his neatly-mounted specimens came from this area.

"These were really happy hunting grounds for collectors back in the 30's, when the dust was blowing," he reflected. "The wind was always uncovering something then."

Indian hobbyists are probably even more disturbed by the soil bank program than by government dam projects, Umbach noted, because most finds are made after farmers have unearthed them in preparing ground.

"Indians usually camped on high ground so they could see the approach of an enemy," he explained, "and too often this is the same ground now taken out of cultivation."

The Superior man's collection was among those featured this weekend at the 8th annual show of the Central Nebraska Rock and Mineral Society. The exhibits were on display at the Hastings armory.

A Well-Shod Group

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Another place where we Americans undoubtedly exceed the Russians is in the number of pairs of shoes we go through in a year. Shoes are probably a mark of American economic indifference judged by the great number of them produced every year. The shoe production industry reports a near-record April output of 53.1 million pairs. The industry reports an output for the first four months of the year of 221,374,000 pairs and this rate would establish a new annual record to exceed the 1959 production of 638,201,000 pairs.

In 1960 production dropped a little and in 1961 still did not get back to the 1959 level. This is a curious thing in itself, of course, since the population is constantly increasing.

One Pair For Three Years

One would think that shoe production could hardly do anything from year to year except increase but this is not the case, as the facts show. The figures indicate, in fact, that there are some people who appear to be getting by with one pair of shoes every three years. This is enough to disgust the fellow who gets only about six months wear per pair. It practically infuriates the fellow with little children.

One of the amazing things about children is the manner in which they can completely ruin a pair of shoes. Shoes for children are something that should never be charged. It is a discouraging experience to get the shoe bill and find that it represents the tab for a pair of kickers that have already seen their better day.

The experience is always a disquieting one in the household. When the monthly bills are scanned, the husband is perplexed at the shoe bill because no one in the family has any new shoes. The wife explains that the bill is for the shoes purchased for Easter for the children or for the beginning of school or some other time.

The husband protests that those shoes would have to be paid for already because they are already worn out. Obviously, the shoe merchant would not wait so long for payment that the product was already over the hill. But such reasoning fails to take into account the devastating use to which children's shoes are put. In less than a month, such a pair of shoes will have been wading in the creek, mired in mud over their tops, used daily as the brakes on the wagon or tricycle, served as the tool for transporting a rock six blocks along the sidewalk from home to school and back again, pitted against concrete curbs and stone walls, burned in a bonfire, chewed by the dog, clawed by the cat, cut by a pocket knife and maybe even painted.

These, of course, are just some of the routine uses that come to mind. If the full category of uses were presented, it would show a weird story of abuse. Actually, the wonder is that the shoes last until the bill comes in. This also explains why it is the baby shoes that are preserved in bronze by fond parents. You couldn't wait for the walking age or you would have no shoes left to preserve. It isn't even wise to wait for the crawling age because this is like putting the toe of the shoe on a grinding wheel. The only time you can expect any longevity out of children's shoes is when they grow out of them and this doesn't save you anything. Naturally, the rough treatment is a little worse with boys than girls but the latter make up for this in other ways.

No one knows where women acquire their style consciousness but it can be said that it comes to them very early in life. No doubt it's something they are born with, as they are with intuition. Dress shoes are fine for little girls but it is amazing how quickly they make the play shoes begin to pinch the feet and hurt the foot.

However, we would still like to find the fellow who makes a pair of shoes last three years. Immobility couldn't be the whole answer because anyone that immobile wouldn't even need shoes as he would be confined to quarters. We once knew a fellow who amazed us with a 10-year-old pair of overshoes. The explanation, however, was quite simple.

This fellow followed the practice some car drivers follow. People who use tire chains will often seek out the path with snow on it rather than the path cleared down to the pavement. Running on snow does not wear out the tire chains as does running on concrete or asphalt.

The fellow with 10-year-old overshoes did the same thing. He never walked on a shoveled sidewalk but always sought the sides where there was a covering of snow. The snow provided little wear on his overshoes while the fellow who followed the cleared paths went through his overshoes in a hurry. Obviously, the lesson from this is that all of us should do less snow shoveling to protect our overshoes, tires, chains, etc.

This will be a fine argument to try out around home next December. The heart attack scare has never seemed to carry the weight it should so a new idea is welcome. This, however, doesn't solve all problems. If some people are using only one pair of shoes in three years and a lot of us only two pairs a year, somebody is running at the rate of four to six pairs a year and while we might guess who it is, we know of no way to reverse the inequity.

The So Easy Solution

The National City Bank in its May newsletter neatly solved the farm problem. It said:

"As any economist knows, the solution to the farm problem requires a reduction in price supports and the relaxation of controls. These steps would broaden the market, ease the burdens of the taxpayers, permit efficient farmers to produce freely, and induce inefficient farmers to seek other employment."

There you have it. Take the medical care away from the patient, dump him out in the front yard, and he will get well, or, at least, quit bothering us.

We don't doubt but that the abandonment of the farmer would bring a solution. It would bankrupt and drive a great many farm families into the street. But that would produce more grave problems. Assuming that a generation of farmers were annihilated, the land would still be there awaiting a purchaser-producer who would thrive on the huge equity losses of the unfortunate predecessor. There is an old familiar ring to this, harking back to the days when the operator was periodically sweated out of his gains.

One may also inquire of the 10 or 15 million farm families who are thus cast out in the street. What becomes of them, now that their equities have been extinguished? Could the labor pool which is oversupplied by some 4,000,000 find jobs for 10 or 15 million more? In China it might be handled by mass extermination. But not here.

If any economist knows anything he should know that we are dealing here with as great a human problem as an economic one, and they cannot be separated, to be dealt with as a cold problem in arithmetic.

The farm programs, of themselves, cannot solve or counter the relentless effects of agricultural change, the advancing techniques and power implements. But they can set guidelines and they can cushion the transition in terms of sufficient time to allow change without a social and economic explosion.

Eisenhower's Concern

Former President Dwight Eisenhower turned an affair of honor to him into an occasion for a stiff fatherly lecture to America's children, both old and young, on proper behavior.

The elder statesman-general thinks it is past time when the American mind divests itself of dirty thoughts, catch-as-catch-can materialism, rapid dances and art that slobbers more than it speaks. He fears decadence, and considers it deplorable that a great and ingenious society which has produced so much comfort and security should turn its thoughts and energies to degrading follies.

The cynics will say Mr. Eisenhower is growing old and religious just as they did when ex-President Herbert Hoover appeared before the Republican national convention and instead of talking politics he gave the country a good talk on morals. These two men have not turned moral because it is time to do so. Both were born and reared in an environment of solid decency, which they never forgot. Both spent many years in the total pursuit of their nation's welfare. Now in their later years they are in a position to speak in the deepest experience, saying that what they were taught has turned out to be utterly true. They realize that the United States did not inherit wealth, but character and they do not wish the two confused. They hate to see precious leisure time frittered away especially when survival requires the full effort.

Rail Situation Uncertain

President Kennedy was widely given the benefit of any doubts when he attacked and repelled a proposed increase in steel prices. The general feeling seemed to be that the President was working diligently to hold the line on prices and wages at this time in order to stabilize the economy and better prepare the nation for expanded foreign trade.

Pearson's Plan For Liston Fight

WASHINGTON — The New York Boxing Commission turned down the Sonny Liston - Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship match in New York for a good and justifiable reason — namely, Liston's criminal record.

Liston has been arrested 19 times, sent to jail twice, once on a serious conviction of armed robbery, once for assaulting a police officer. Most of the shadowy characters who have managed him in the past took the 5th amendment when called to testify before the Kefauver boxing investigation.

So the New York Boxing Commissioners, including Big Jim Farley, ruled against putting an ex-convict into the national limelight to receive the possible plaudits of the multitudes and perhaps the world's heavyweight title.

However, a man is entitled to rehabilitate himself — if he is sincere about it and really works at it. And one way Liston could do so is by allocating the major portion of the proceeds from the proposed match to combatting juvenile delinquency.

To this end, I made a proposal in March, as president of Big Brothers in the nation's capital, that Liston and Floyd Patterson stage their match in Washington under the watchful eye of Senator Kefauver and the Justice Department and that a reasonable share of the proceeds be set aside for Big Brothers and the combatting of juvenile delinquency.

It seemed to me that if Liston would contribute to and work at keeping other boys from the type of trouble he got into, nobody could deny him the right to fight.

To that end, I offered a flat $1,000,000 to Patterson, with a bond guaranteeing that this amount be paid the minute after the fight was concluded. A lesser amount, to be determined later, was to go to Liston. It seemed to me that, income taxes being what they are, this was not an unreasonable amount, and that the two boxers could help their country and themselves by allotting the balance to help youngsters in trouble.

I never had the courtesy of a reply. Secondhand I heard that some of the men around Patterson wanted a bigger cut.

However, if Sonny Liston is really interested in rehabilitating himself, and if Patterson is interested in helping him, the above offer still stands—but only provided a reasonable share of the proceeds is used for helping boys who need help.

Dr. Frederick Sietz, new president of the National Academy of Sciences, has warned urgently that the United States must overcome the Soviet lead in oceanographic research. Russia is further ahead of the United States in exploring the depths of the sea than the heights of space—which could give Russia an advantage in submarine warfare . . . Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington has been badgering Congress with the same warning for some time . . .

Dr. Seitz, incidentally, is the same scientist who was ridiculed after World War II for warning that Russia would develop the atomic bomb before 1950.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

So-Called 'Neutrals' Profit In Matter Of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON—The most famous living example of "neutrality" in a time of great moral crisis is Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India. Not only has Nehru deliberately muffled incalculable opportunities to stand up for the free world against communist tyranny, but his right-hand-man, V. K. Krishna Menon, is openly "neutral" in favor of the other side.

Their attitude is paying off handsomely. Last month hard-pressed Uncle Sam granted India a loan in rupees equivalent to more than a third of a billion dollars. This is the largest single loan ever granted in the eleven years of our lavish aid-to-India program.

Last week the U.S. and India signed another agreement to survey whether the United States should finance construction of a colossal Bokaro steel mill in east central India. The cost of the plant would eventually run into the billions, and Uncle Sam is even paying for the survey.

Another shining light in the "neutralist" world is Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic which recently lost its stepchild, Syria.

Despite Nasser's diligent footsie-playing with the communist world, the free world has just banded together to supply the UAR with a two hundred million dollar aid program. West Germany and Italy are participating in a modest way, and the U.S.

will pick up the rest of the check for long-term loans and grants.

Yugoslavia, autocratically presided over by communist Marshal Tito, has long been a beneficiary of our aid. The theory behind our largesse is, of course, that we can eventually lure them into the free world camp, but to date no such omens have appeared in the troubled skies.

Ghana, the former African Gold Coast state on whom we have recently lavished a great deal of money and attention, is ruled by President Kwame Nkrumah. He is a "neutralist" too, although he has just become the proud recipient of the Lenin Peace Prize from Moscow.

For some reason which our "friends" find difficult to understand, we are much more generous to the neutrals than to them. Pakistan, our firm ally in the Far East, bitterly resents the fact that we give so much more to India than to it.

Spain and Portugal, who have long provided us with bases and a firm bastion against communist encroachment, find it bewildering that we constantly kick them downstairs, while aiding India, which recently seized Portuguese territory by force.

These paradoxes in our foreign policy are part of the reason why the President can anticipate stormy going in Congress for his nearly five billion dollar foreign aid program this year.

ROBERT PEARY

Profiles In Science

The news that Robert Peary had discovered the North Pole was an anti-climax.

Just a week before Peary's return to the United States from the world's first successful expedition to the Pole, another explorer, Frederick Cook, announced that he had gotten to the Pole the year before.

Cook's claim was investigated and denied by Danish and American scientists, and Peary was officially, if belatedly, given credit for his feat.

Peary's achievement will be remembered as one of the great explorations of the century — even though men may land on the moon and Mars before the 21st century begins.

Before Peary succeeded, hundreds had failed. Scores of men had lost their lives struggling against the cruel conditions of the Arctic.

But on April 6, 1909, Peary, four Eskimos and Matt Henson, Peary's Negro companion of many voyages, reached the North Pole. They stayed there 30 hours, made observations and took soundings and then began the arduous return to their ship, the Roosevelt, lying 500 miles south.

Peary was born in Pennsylvania in 1856. He was educated at Bowdoin College and became a lieutenant in the United States Navy. As a naval civil engineer he surveyed possible routes across Nicaragua for a canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

His first trip to the North was made in 1886. He explored the coast of Greenland and proved it was an island. Three years later he went back, accompanied by his wife. Their daughter was born during the trip.

Peary's first attempt to get to the Pole was made in 1898. The Arctic explorer got to within 390 miles of the Pole before he was forced to turn back by bad weather.

In 1905 he got closer—with in 200 miles. This was the farthest north any explorer had ever gone.

In July, 1908, Peary

sailed again in the Roosevelt, a ship built to resist the crushing pressure of ice. Leaving the ship on Feb. 15, 1909, Peary and a party of 66 men started out for the Pole over seemingly boundless expanses of jagged ice.

Many men had to go back, and only Peary, Henson and the four Eskimos actually reached the objective.

Peary was honored by many scientific organizations, including the Royal Scottish Geographical and the National Geographical Societies. He was made a rear admiral. Peary died Feb. 19, 1920.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Congo Remains A Constant Worry

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Although the public clamor raised over the Congo in the past by lobbyists has died down, acting U.N. Secretary General U Thant is as preoccupied with forestalling new bloodshed in that area as was Dag Hammarskjöld before he was killed under mysterious circumstances.

Scarcely a day passes on the 38th floor of global headquarters that sudden new problems don't arise and threaten to light the fuse to the bomb on which U.N. is sitting in the Congo.

U Thant is currently concentrating, with the aid of his right-hand advisor, Dr. Ralph Bunche, on getting a stable solution by the method of direct talks between Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula of the central government in Leopoldville and President Moise Tshombe of the rebellious Katanga province. On the success or failure of these sometimes disrupted or deadlocked face-to-face talks rests the fate of the Congo and its millions.

The longer these talks remain unresolved, the more dangerous the situation. U Thant told me in a conversation a few days ago that he has incontrovertible evidence that foreign mercenaries are again flocking into Katanga. Kenneth Kaunda, president of Northern Rhodesia's United Independence Party, told a U.N. committee that arms and war material were pouring into Katanga from foreign sources, some of which he claimed originated with and were officially sanctioned by Sir Roy Welensky. He is prime minister of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, an arch enemy of U.N. It is recalled, too, that Welensky was charged repeatedly during the shooting war between U.N. and Katangese mercenaries with allowing jeeps of foreign mercenaries armed to the teeth to cross unhampered from Rhodesia into the Congo.

The Soviet Union, ever quick to put salt in any wound, has been busy at UN trying to fan the Congo war embers back into flames. The Russians keep pressing U Thant for action in the hope that bloodshed once more will brighten Moscow's own chances of regaining a foothold. But the astute Burmese U.N. chief is making his own decisions and moves, and allowing nobody to interfere with the establishment of a firm and united Congo nation. Ten days ago he ordered the arrest and imprisonment of the so-called Col. Hubert F. Julian — once known as the "Black Eagle of Harlem" — on reports that he was linked somehow to a foreign plot to sell $18,000,000 worth of arms to President Tshombe.

In view of such disturbing evidence and reports, one can scarcely blame Prime Minister Adoula for viewing Tshombe and the Katangese regime with sour distrust. Although U Thant sticks firmly to his insistence on direct talks and has extended guaranteed U.N. protection to Tshombe during his presence in Leopoldville, Prime Minister Adoula gave this explanation for the slow progress in reaching agreement:

"The central government is more and more convinced that Mr. Tshombe did not come to Leopoldville to seek agreement; instead, he came in order to gain time. I have already told you that while Mr. Tshombe was evading the issues in Leopoldville in his initial talks with me, the Katangese officials remaining in Elisabethville were continuing to reinforce their military strength. We know in an exact way what quantities of arms and munitions have entered or are about to enter Katanga. We know what countries are arming Tshombe, and therefore encouraging secession."

This sort of evident duplicity on the part of Tshombe, who still poses as an African hero in countries expertly brainwashed by the hired propagandists, has led Adoula to seek counter-action in concert with a number of the Afro-Asian nations. They, too, are putting pressure on U Thant to cut the Katanga secessionist ringleaders and their foreign backers down to size, or face trouble.

In the secretary general's mind is the awareness that the longer the quarrel and intrigue on the Congo question continues, the more it will cost U.N. to maintain there its 18,000-man army and growing civil service staff. The heavy financial strain of the Congo will not ease up until the U.N. army can be reduced by half or more, and begin counting the days when it is to be pulled out altogether. But that happy event, if ever to be achieved, must be preceded by a complete and unequivocal unification agreement between Leopoldville and Elisabethville — with or without the official participation of Tshombe.

In seeking a peaceful settlement serving only the best interests of all the Congolese people, U Thant avoids any action which would lay him open to charges that he is dictating the domestic law and share of government. This is a matter for the Congolese themselves to work out—without interference not only from U.N. but from any African, Asian or European interests. Certainly not in even a remote sense from American official or private interests, or pressure organizations.

On the secretary general's desk, in his Congo file, is Prime Minister Adoula's basic outline for the shape of things in the Congo—a set of declared principles which guide all face-to-face talks between him and Tshombe. These principles are keyed to the overriding fact that the "fundamental law" must prevail and form the anchor of rule by the duly authorized and parliamentary central government. There can be no overt or legalized secession; there can be no secret deals between a foreign country and any province; there can be loyalty to one and one government only.

Proceeding from that point, Adoula states:

"The central government is ready to give Mr. Tshombe as well as to all the provinces its assurances concerning the future constitution. To this effect, the central government is ready to present within two months a draft constitution to the legislative chambers. This draft will assure a considerable autonomy to the provinces in the handling of their own affairs. It will permit each region to express and develop its own personality."

There are numerous steps in the urban renewal process, but the first and all-important one rests with the voters on May 15.

Only they can authorize an Urban Renewal Authority for Lincoln that would operate under the City Council and pursuant to Nebraska's urban renewal and redevelopment law.

Upon voter approval of the urban renewal process, the next step (Step 2) must be taken by the council within 90 days to appoint an urban renewal authority of 5 members, serving 5-year staggered terms.

Step 3 — The authority must satisfy the federal governmental agency that the city has a workable program for urban renewal which includes these tools: a comprehensive city plan; building, plumbing, electrical and related codes; zoning and land subdivision codes, and a minimum housing standards code.

Step 4 — Using authoritative sources of information and technical help, the authority may report one or more areas as deteriorated and substandard and in need of renewal and redevelopment to the council.

Step 5 — The council must hold public hearings on the authority's report and recommendations and may make a finding that these areas are blighted and authorize redevelopment planning.

Step 6 — The federal agency reviews the proposed survey and planning study and may advance funds for this purpose.

Step 7 — The authority proceeds to prepare a feasibility report and a redevelopment plan for the designated area encompassing not less than one city block. The plan must include method of redevelopment and cost (some structures may be razed and the land cleared for redevelopment while other structures may be marked for restoration), a proposed method of financing and method for relocating any families displaced. Finally, the site plan must propose uses for the land, such as housing, parks, public buildings, business and industry, and conform with the comprehensive plan.

GI Direct Loan Funds Upped By Over $1 Million

An additional $1.1 million will be made available July 2 for direct loans to Nebraska veterans, A. H. Duxbury, VA regional office manager at Lincoln, said.

The money will be in addition to the $250,000 authorized in March.

Forms are now being mailed to approximately 200 veterans on the waiting list, in the order in which inquiries were received.

Duxbury said that additional allocations will be made during the remainder of the fiscal year beginning July 2, but the amount and timing will be determined later.

Direct loans are made only to Nebraska veterans residing in rural areas and in small cities where GI financing by private lenders, historically, has not been generally available.

Since the program began in 1950, the VA has made nearly 3,000 direct loans to Nebraska veterans, totaling nearly $25 million. Duxbury said only two direct loans had to be foreclosed.

Step 8 — The Planning Commission must review the redevelopment plan and report on its conformity with the city's comprehensive plan.

Step 9 — The council must hold public hearings on the redevelopment plan. After hearing, the council may approve the plan on finding it is feasible, conforms with the comprehensive plan and conforms with the state urban renewal act.

Step 10 — The federal government reviews the redevelopment plan and may grant two-thirds federal aid for the project. The authority may fund the local share by revenue bonds, but not general obligation bonds, proceeds from the project, and appropriations up to a three-quarter mill levy. The authority may also request general fund appropriations by the City Council.

Step 11 — The authority proceeds to implement the approved redevelopment plan.

Step 12 — Authority may sell, lease or exchange property in a redevelopment area in accordance with the approved plan and may attach any conditions or restrictions deemed advisable in the public interest.

Transfers must be the fair value. The authority is required to invite proposals for redevelopment contracts, giving public notice and all pertinent information.

Robert Taylor's Step-Daughter Is Put On Probation

Santa Monica, Calif. (UPI) — Actor Robert Taylor's step-daughter, Manuela Thiess, 18, was placed on one-year probation on a guilty plea of appearing on a public street while under the influence of drugs.

Municipal Court Judge W. Blair Gibbons suspended a jail term on condition the teen-ager remain under jurisdiction of the probation department until she travels to Europe with her parents.

Miss Thiess, daughter of Taylor's wife, actress Ursula Thiess, also was ordered to refrain from using narcotics or associating with narcotic users.

Lexington Man Called To Church Of Holy Cross

A Lexington pastor, the Rev. David Wallschlaeger, will become pastor of the Church of the Holy Cross at Airport Heights in Lincoln June 3.

The Rev. Mr. Wallschlaeger comes to the Lincoln church from First Lutheran in Lexington where he has served since August, 1960.

A graduate of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, he replaces the Rev. Myron Vogt who accepted a pastorate in Elmore, Minn.

M. Sgt. George Armstrong is chairman of the 140-member Lincoln congregation.

Business-Backed Unit Offers Tariff-Cutting Plan

... CLOSELY AKIN TO ONE BEING PUSHED BY KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION

Washington (P) — The business-supported committee for Economic Development put forward Sunday a tariff-cutting program closely akin to the one being pushed by the Kennedy administration.

Presenting its plan, the CED endorsed the objectives of the administration measure but urged a different formula for negotiating lower tariffs and suggested other changes.

Whereas President Kennedy wants authority to cut tariffs on manufactured goods by 50% — and to eliminate most tariffs entirely — the CED called for an average reduction of 50%. Thus, any cut of more than 50% would be offset by a lesser reduction elsewhere.

Reject Aid

The CED would reject also the administration plan to offer special aid to industries and workers hurt by increased import competition. And it would redefine the "escape clause" which is designed to offer protection against severe competition from imports.

Emilio G. Collado, a director of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) and chairman of the group that drafted the CED proposal described them as generally in harmony with the administration plan. He said the

Morrison Sees Economic Boost For State's Farmers

Some Nebraska farmers can expect a major economic boost soon, Gov. Frank Morrison said Sunday.

Morrison made the observation after hearing that the Senate has sent to President Kennedy a bill involving production of industrial oil crops by farmers.

These crops include safflower and castor beans, both grown in Nebraska.

If the President signs the bill, it will give Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman permission to authorize payments to farmers growing in-

'Pay Off Handsomely'

"Frequent visits by the Nebraska director of agriculture, Pearle Finigan, to Washington seeking such a plan should pay off handsomely to Nebraska farmers who raise safflower and castor beans," Morrison said.

"Farmers in our state participating in our program of planting these crops know they are profitable and not plagued by surpluses," he added.

Finigan lauded the Senate's voice-vote approval of the bill: "When this bill comes into effect, it will boost both morale and the income of farmers who participate in it. It is an added boost we need to expand our production of industrial crops."

In 1961 Nebraska farmers planted 56,000 acres in safflower and 6,000 acres in castor beans. Finigan did not predict how many additional acres might be planted under the new plan, but said, "I hope the increase will be significant."

are lower than those elsewhere.

Gradual Cuts

The CED suggested that tariffs be reduced gradually over 10 years "in cases where persistent (business) losses and unemployment would result from more rapid reduction."

Because of this go-slow approach in selected areas, the CED rejected the administration plan to offer special financial and other aid to industries and workers severely affected by import competition attributable to lower tariffs. It suggested that, at least for a trial period, the existing program to aid depressed areas should be employed for this purpose.

The CED urged a redefinition of the escape clause that permits withdrawal of a tariff concession if domestic industry is being injured. It said the test should be serious hardship rather than injury.

ANSWER by OUR

Will urban renewal increase my taxes?

The Nebraska urban renewal law provides for the possibility of a 3/4 mill levy for urban renewal purposes. However it is anticipated that higher tax revenues from improved areas and reductions in the costs of municipal services in former blighted areas should combine to provide substantial tax benefits for you in the long run.

This has been the experience of other cities which have given urban renewal a fair trial.

Who owns most of the bad housing in Lincoln?

We estimate that 60% of the bad housing is owned by people who do not live in these areas and that

Reliable studies have shown that low tax values and high rentals make some of this property very profitable to these absentee owners.

This undoubtedly accounts for some of the bitter opposition to urban renewal in Lincoln.

Those who own and occupy property in sub-standard areas often are unable to get necessary loans to improve their property because of the neighborhood situation.

Above Drug Special Effective thru Sat. May 12th

A warm summer sun (you'd never believe it) fell on Hasker street. And around the crescent bend, up near Harrod's department store, came a tinkle of guitar music in the balmy London air.

The Ban-the-Bomb marchers have been marching again. They marched four days from out in the country at Aldermaston — gathering blisters and fervor as they did the heel-and-toe on the English highway.

So naturally, I must dust up to Hyde Park to see the demonstration.

As I say, it was prime demonstration weather. Somehow I can't see the answer to The Bomb coming out of blackstockinged, beatnik chicks staging sitdowns in front of the American Embassy. But anyway, it was good weather. The weather in England has been snow, rain, hail and shiver.

If you're going to watch a bomb banned, I must say it's nice to do it under good conditions.

The marchers carried banners:

"East Ham CND (Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament) Against The Bomb!"

"Nuclear Bombs Poison!" They were mostly kids, about high school age. A sprinkle of dedicated oldsters. A handful of the sharp, narrow-eyed organizers you always see on these things.

They ran up and down the line crying: "Close it up now! Into the park!"

The speeches began — Canon John Collins was a main speaker. He said The Bomb was certainly a bad thing and President John Kennedy was making a big mistake shooting them off.

The marchers lay back on the new, warm green grass. They kicked off their shoes and massaged their feet and cheered.

Not many Londoners turned out — it was a weekend. And on weekends everybody goes to the country.

The Ban-the-Bomb people estimated their number at 70,000. The papers guessed 35,000 and 40,000. The police said 20,000.

These figures don't mean much. I've done this kind of estimate myself. Believe me, it's the wildest guesswork.

Anyway, there was a lot of people. There were 500 police watching. You can say anything in Hyde Park. It is a sanctuary for blowing off steam.

A number of leaflets were passed out. "Why Do We March?" It said they had marched 52 miles for the past 5 years.

(Looking over the age group, I figured a good many must have made the first year being pushed in a pram. It takes a good deal of youth to do 4 days on the road.)

They weren't much of an impressive bunch. Lot of black stockings, no lipstick girls. Lot of beards.

After a while, they all got up and began marching again — ah, youth! They marched in Knightsbridge and they marched in King's Road.

By the time it became a matter of dropping the word at the Embassy, they had dwindled to 7000.

Canon Collins went up on the steps of the Embassy and prayed.

He said he intended to deliver a note to the Russian Embassy too.

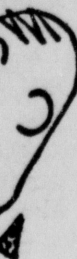

I drove by the Russian place later. But there was nobody there except the usual policeman. On a pleasant day like this, I imagine the Russians go out to the country too.

Were Brides At Morning Ceremonies

MRS. DAVID WEISBECK

The chancel of St. Michael's Church at Herreid, S.D., was appointed with tall arrangements of white and lavender gladioli on Saturday morning, May 5, for the marriage of Miss Phyllis Manke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Manke of Lincoln, to David Weisbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Weisbeck of Herreid. The 10 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Father Brunner.

Wearing bouffant frocks in lavender sheer and carrying nosegays of white and lavender carnations were Miss Loretta Noltz, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Pauline Weisbeck and Miss Carolita Weisbeck, all of Herreid.

Jeromey Weisbeck served as best man, and seating the guests were Bernard Hahne and Lloyd Grad, all of Herreid.

White Chantilly-type lace and organza over taffeta fashioned the bride's gown. Iridescent sequins patterned the lace of the long-sleeved bodice to highlight the sabrina neckline, and the width of the organza skirt was emphasized by a draped overskirt of the lace. A sequin crown held her veil of lace-edged illusion, and she carried a white Bible marked with a single lavender orchid.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Weisbeck will make their home in Lincoln at 3509 So. 48th. The bride is a former student at the National Business Institute.

Had Church Wedding

MRS. MARTIN G. HUEGEL

The wedding of Miss Karen Kay Drou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Drou, and Martin G. Huegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Huegel of Waterford, Pa., took place on Saturday morning, May 5, at Sacred Heart Church. Bouquets of white and pink gladioli appointed the altar for the 10 o'clock ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. Paul J. Rutten, and the wedding music was played by Miss Marie Hassel, organist.

Frocked alike in sheaths of pink peau de soie complemented by full overskirts of pink net were Mrs. John MacDonald, as the matron of honor; Miss Jeanell Ang, Raymond, the bridesmaid; and the bridesmatron, Mrs. Don Drou. They carried crescents of white carnations tipped with pink.

Don Drou, brother of the bride, served Mr. Huegel as best man, and the corps of ushers included Larry Thompson, Ronald Covey, Donald Hoffman and Michael Manning.

Silk tulle and handclipped Chantilly lace in traditional white were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. Lace smoothed over taffeta fashioned the fitted, long-sleeved bodice which was designed with a cameo neckline traced with iridescent paillettes, and the lace continued into a kerchief petal over the voluminous skirt of ruffled tulle and lace which extended into a brief train. Her illusion veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystal beading, and she carried a pinnacle arrangement of white, feathered carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Huegel will reside in Lincoln following a short wedding trip.

MRS. GERALD J. LANG

Invitations were issued to 200 guests for the wedding of Miss Patricia Anne Stromer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren J. Stromer, and Gerald J. Lang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund A. Lang of Beatrice, which took place on Saturday morning, May 5, at Blessed Sacrament Church. White spring blossoms and ivy appointed the altar for the service, which was solemnized by the Rev. Leonard I. Kalin.

John Truscott of Beatrice served Mr. Lang as best man, and the corps of ushers included Steve Fink of Beatrice, Jon Stromer, Hubert Ulman, Darrell Sneed and Dick Rikli.

The bride's gown of white imported Chantilly lace and silk organza was designed in the period mode. The sculptured bodice of lace was fashioned with long sleeves and a Sabrina neckline, edged with natural scallops of the lace, and below the pointed, Elizabethan waist, the organza skirt was caught into controlled fullness at either side and completed at the back by a panel of the lace which continued into a chapel train. She wore a mantilla veil of Chantilly lace and carried a white prayer book from which cascaded an arrangement of gardenias and ivy.

After June 1, the couple will reside in Hawaii where the bridegroom is stationed with the Navy. Mr. Lang is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

The whirr of lawnmowers and roller skates is not the only sound to be heard up and down the streets of suburbia these fine spring days—there also is the slam of car doors, as many of the neighbors are returning from, or taking off on short holiday trips. We also have news of popular residents who are moving from the city.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Leaving Lincoln and their 1545 Arapahoe address on Saturday, April 28, were Mr. and Mrs. James O. Tokheim and their three children, Rodney, 7, Susan, 4, and Allen, who is one-going-on-two. The Tokheim's new address is an Illinois one, 307 Barrington Road, Peoria.

Complimenting the Tokheims the evening before their departure was a group of their Indian Village neighbors who entertained at a surprise farewell party in the Tokheim garden.

Included among the group were Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Monhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Brownson, Mrs. Charles Harm, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Folmer, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. McGowan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klippert.

From the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ratliff this morning comes the news of an addition to the family—young Michael Ratliff, who was born at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Sunday, April 29. Michael has a brother, Randy, 7, and sister, Terri Lynn, 3.

The young gentleman's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Nail of Shenandoah, Iowa, and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ratliff of San Dimas, Calif.

And arriving at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Thursday, April 26, was Miss Angela Jo Workman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Workman.

The baby's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Bernice Jackson, and her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Lucille Workman. The young lady also has three great-grandmothers, Mrs. Louise Stertz of Keokuk, Iowa, Mrs. Ralph Evans, and Mrs. Clara Workman.

We Hear That

Word has been received in Lincoln of the birth of a daughter to Dr. and Mrs. Edward Ahlemeyer of San Bernardino, Calif., on Sunday, April 29. Both alumni of the University of Nebraska, Dr. and Mrs. Ahlemeyer have three other children, Debra, Leslie and Edward, III. Mrs. Ahlemeyer will be remembered as the former Virginia Kreuch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kreuch of Lincoln. The paternal grandparents are the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Ahlemeyer of Evanston, Ind. Mrs. Kreuch currently is visiting her son-in-law and daughter in California and plans to be home the middle of May.

Entertaining her bridge club Tuesday at a dessert-supper and evening of cards was Mrs. Jerry Trimble. Vying for high score were Mrs. Don Falk, Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Bradley Bigelow, Mrs. John Wisenstine, Mrs. Jack Skinner, Mrs. Jim Pollard and club guest, Mrs. Robert Hall.

Returning home last Tuesday from a vacation trip to Texas were Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Chaloupka, who left Lincoln April 1, for Dallas, where they visited their granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Sloan, Mr. Sloan, and their children, Angela Lee and Craig.

During their stay in Dallas, they attended the opening of "Six Flags Over Texas," which, we understand, is similar to Disneyland.

From Dallas, Dr. and Mrs. Chaloupka traveled to San Antonio to visit their niece, Mrs. Ernest A. Matthews and to attend San Antonio's annual Fiesta Week.

Houseguests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kubick early last week were Mrs. Kubick's parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Plihal of Pawnee City. While in Lincoln Dr. and Mrs. Plihal also visited at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. James Plihal, Jr. The Plihals returned home last Wednesday.

Why Grow Old? Exercise Vital

This exercise, described in Josephine Lowman's column today, is good for the abdomen.

Josephine Lowman

I'm jolly well enjoying life And hope that you are too But I must often kick myself To lose a pound, it's true. How life goes flying by this way And I remain the same, I simply cannot understand Since that was not my aim.

I planned to be so glamorous And maybe you did too, Why don't we all get busy now And do what we should do?

And what should we do? Well, there is nothing more important than exercise for the woman who wishes to prolong the youthful portion of life and to keep the proportions of youth. As women grow older, fatty deposits have an annoying habit of settling on the waistline and the abdomen.

Exercise is not only important figure-wise, but gives the woman who indulges in it regularly a bloom, a freshness, which she would not have otherwise. It also improves her health and gives her extra energy.

The abdomen is one of the favorite camping grounds for fatty deposits. Take the following exercise as medicine for this figure defect.

Sit on the floor. Lean back on the elbows. Remain in this position as you bend both knees up to the abdomen. Slowly return legs to the floor. Continue bending and straightening legs slowly.

If you would like to have my tested abdominal exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Entertained At Reception

In post-nuptial courtesy to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey O. Wall were host and hostess on Sunday afternoon, April 29, at a reception held at the Northeast Community Church.

Included among the 170 guests at the 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock reception were Mr. and Mrs. Austin L. Fosnaugh of Clinton, Ill., parents of the recent bride.

The wedding of Mr. Wall and Miss Mary Kay Fosnaugh took place on Saturday, April 21, at Clinton, Ill. The couple is residing at 541 No. 28th.

A student at the University of Nebraska, Mr. Wall is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and of the Varsity basketball and baseball teams. Mrs. Wall is a graduate of St. Elizabeth Hospital School of X-Ray Technology.

Dear Abby

Change The Lock

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year I married a widow. I owned a home but it was too large, so I sold it and moved into hers. She had a mortgage on her home, which I paid off. I BOUGHT her home from her and now it belongs to both of us. My problem is her son. He is married and has been in some trouble with the law. (Burglaries and shady deals.) He carries a key to his mother's house, which means he can come and go as he pleases. I do not trust him, and worry about some of the valuable things (jewelry and money) I have in the house. His mother has asked him for the key, but he only gives her excuses. How can I get the key back?

CAREFUL
DEAR CAREFUL: Forget the key and change the locks.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17, but look older. I recently met a man (about my father's age) at a drug store where I work on Saturdays. He says he is a movie talent scout and he would like to give me a screen test. No one where I work seems to know who he is. I know I am nice looking because people tell me that all the time. Should I take this man seriously or do you think he is kidding me?

HELEN
DEAR HELEN: First, give this man a "screening." Invite him to meet your parents. They'll find out in a hurry if he's kidding.

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair-do. No comment. I bought material and made myself a beautiful outfit in his favorite color—blue. No comment. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume I thought he'd like. No comment. Everyone else tells me I am a fine-looking woman, but he never says a word. I know he loves me and our children, but sometimes I think, "Oh, what the heck!"

NO COMPLIMENTS
DEAR NO: You're lucky. Some women get plenty of sweet talk from their husbands, and nothing else. By the way, when was the last time you complimented HIM?

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

'Them' Was The Happy Days

B. Jay Becker

tered the spirit of things with three diamonds, but at least he had an opening bid by South to rest on.

Now South was a very imaginative player who realized he would be unable to develop many diamond tricks if he undertook a three no-trump contract, so he splashed into four hearts, even though West had already bid the suit. He thought he'd make enough high-card tricks in the side suits trumps to bring home four hearts.

West doubled of course — he couldn't stand being insulted — and led a diamond. South had no trouble making the contract — it was like taking candy from a baby. He won the diamond with the ace and cashed the king, discarding a club.

He then played a club, losing the king to the ace. Back came a club and South took the queen, cashed the A-K of spades, and ruffed a spade in dummy and a diamond in his hand.

By this time, South had won seven of the eight tricks played and was reduced to the A-Q-10 of hearts, a spade and a club. West had only trumps left.

Declarer led a spade and West was forced to ruff and return a trump. South won with the ten and this time played a club. Again West had to ruff and return a trump. So South made four hearts doubled.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Next Stop—Preakness

Top Derby Runners To Meet Jaipur

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Decidedly, the sensational record-smashing winner of the 88th Kentucky Derby, headed a mass evacuation of 3-year-old stars from Churchill Downs Sunday with Baltimore and the $150,000 added Preakness next stop on the line.

Four and possibly 5 of the first 6 to finish the $162,150 Derby grind are expected to continue the sophomore title chase in the 86th Preakness May 19 at Pimlico.

They know they're heading into a buzz saw in Jaipur, George D. Widener's flashy colt who skipped the derby to await the Preakness and the $125,000 added Belmont Stakes June 9 in New York.

Decidedly, owned by George A. Pope, Jr., of the El Peco Ranch, Madera, Calif., demolished, Whirlaway's 21-year derby and track record of 2:01 1/2 by a full second as he blazed home a 2 1/4 lengths winner over Roman Line in the 1 1/4 mile gallop.

Whirlaway, the great come-from-behind Calumet star, went on to sweep the 1941 Derby - Preakness-Belmont triple crown. The last of 8 horses to make the triple grand slam sweep was Calumet's Citation in 1948.

The California-bred Decidedly is bred to go the distance right through the Belmont, longest of the series. The Preakness is 1 3/16 miles, a sixteenth of a mile shorter than the Derby. Then comes the Belmont, called the test of the champion at 1 1/2 miles.

Roman Line, owned by T. A. Grissom of Detroit, won Tuesday's Derby Trial stakes, but wasn't supposed to be much more than a sprinter. But he grabbed the lead midway in Saturday's furious stretch charge, only to succumb to the charge of Decidedly.

Roman Line finished a neck ahead of Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, the heavy favorite at $1.10 to $1. Ridan got third by a neck from Fred W. Turner's Sir Ribot. Roman Line, Ridan and Sir Ribot swarmed home so bunched a blanket would have covered the trio.

Townsend Martin's Sunrise County was 5th, after forcing the early pace with Ridan and Fred Hooper's Admiral's Voyage.

—SNAPS LOSING STREAK— Musial Homers In 9th For 3-0 Card Victory

Cincinnati (AP) — Veteran Stan Musial broke a scoreless tie Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader by slamming a 3-run homer in the 9th inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. The Reds won the first game, 5-4.

Musial, who set a National League record by playing his 2,787th game, knocked the ball into the right field bleachers and scored behind Julian Javier and Bill White. It was his 4th homer this season.

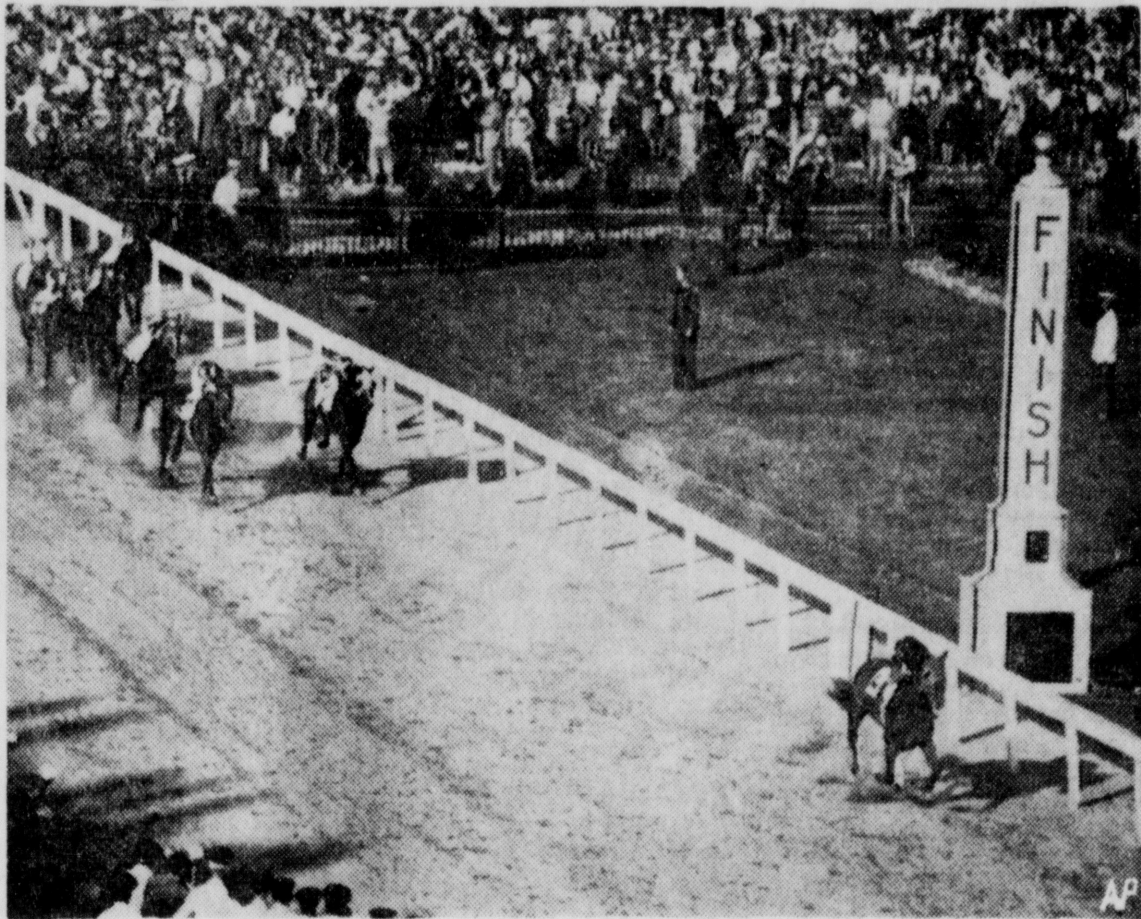

The defeat cut off a Cincinnati winning streak at 5. St. Louis remained in second place, 3 games behind the San Francisco Giants. The Reds are in 6th place, 7 games out of the National League lead.

Up to the time of Musial's homer, the game had been a scoreless tie between Bob Gibson (3-1) and Cincinnati's Moeb Drabowsky (0-3). Both gave up 5 hits.

Musial tied Honus Wagner's old National League record Saturday. He played in both games Sunday, collecting a walk and a sacrifice fly in the first and adding two singles in the nightcap besides the home run.

Both Gibson and Drabowsky had excellent fielding support throughout the game.

In the 4th, Frank Robinson pulled down Ken Boyer's long fly at the right field fence. Gordon Coleman homered for Cincinnati in the opener.

THE OLD RECORD . . . This is finish of 1941 Derby which Whirlaway won to set the Derby mark broken by Decidedly.

Mantle Hits 3 Round Trippers

. . . YANKS, NATS SPLIT

New York (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit 3 home runs in a doubleheader Sunday but the New York Yankees had to settle for a split with the last-place Washington Senators.

Jim Bouton, a 23-year-old rookie making his first major league start, shut out the Senators with 7 hits in the 8th to win the 4-2 opener.

Mantle hit a tremendous 450-foot drive, deep in the bleachers in right center in the first game and followed with two more in the second game. This slugging performance boosted his season total to 6 homers, one more than Roger Maris who hit his 5th in the second game.

Dave Stenhouse, who also won his first big league start, but didn't finish, was the victim of Mantle's long homer in the 4th inning of the opener following a double by Maris. The blow gave the Yankees a 2-1 lead. Washington had scored when Joe Hicks walked, stole second and came in on Dale Long's double in the first.

Washington pulled out the opener with a 3-run spurt against loser Ralph Terry in the 8th.

Pinch hitter Gene Woodling

tied the score with a homer. After Jimmy Piersall doubled, first baseman Joe Pepitone threw wildly on Danny O'Connell's sacrifice and Piersall scored. Another sacrifice moved O'Connell to 3rd and he scored on Long's sacrifice fly.

The Yanks opened up on loser Pete Burnside in the first inning of the second game, witnessed by 23,940 fans. Maris hit a two-run homer after Bobby Richardson doubled and Mantle followed with No. 5.

Tom Tresh drove in two runs with a single in the 4th and Mantle hit No. 6 off rookie Jim Hannan following a walk to Maris in the 7th. Two walks and another single by Tresh accounted for the 3rd. Yank run of the 7th.

Bouton, who had appeared once in relief, had a 13-7 record last year at Amarillo in the Texas League. He is a 6-foot 170-pounder from Ridgewood, N.J.

Mudcat Is Stingy In Injun Win

Kansas City (AP) — Mudcat Grant, making his first start of the season for Cleveland, pitched 6 shutout innings Sunday before being relieved as the Indians found the Kansas City Athletics easy-pickings, 5-1.

Grant, on a weekend Army pass from Ft. Belvoir, Va., yielded only 3 hits and one walk. He was removed after walking Norm Siebern to open the 7th. Sam McDowell and Bob Allen finished for him.

The Indians hammered 9 hits and handed Norm Bass, the Kansas City starter, his 4th straight defeat. The key blow was a 3-run homer in the 5th by Willie Kirkland.

The Indians opened their scoring in the second when John Romano walked, moved to 3rd on a double by Woody Held and came home on a sacrifice fly by Bubba Phillips.

Dineen Gets Post

Omaha (AP) — Tom Dineen of Bishop Ryan was revealed Sunday night at a father-son banquet of the Father Flanagan Council of the Knights of Columbus as the Omaha Catholic coach of the year. Dineen has coached at Ryan since the new school opened 4 years ago. His selection was based on Ryan's football and baseball accomplishments.

Omaha Lad Wins

Reno, Nev., (UPI) — Twelve-year-old Jim Columbo, Omaha, Nebraska, won the Golden West handicap championship here Sunday by breaking 98 out of 100, and defeating 6 other top trap shooters in a special shoot-off that followed.

DECIDEDLY A WINNER . . . Bill Hartack boots Decidedly home in the 1962 run for the roses ahead of Roman Line and Ridan.

Spahn Garners Win 312

Milwaukee (AP) — Relief specialist Dick Farrell turned starter Sunday and pitched the Houston Colts to a 9-1 victory which gave them an even break in a doubleheader with the Milwaukee Braves. Warren Spahn won his 312th major league game as the Braves took the opener, 3-2.

Going the distance for the first time in 7 major league seasons, Farrell threw a 4 hitter and struck out 11 batters, shutting out the Braves on two hits after the first inning. The Colts, meanwhile, pounded Carl Willey, Cecil Butler and Tony Cloninger for 12 hits, including two home runs by Roman Mejias and one each by Norm Larker and Pidge Browne.

Mejias also hit a home run in the first game, costing Spahn a shutout.

Bernie Allen Blast Boosts Twins, 10-7

St. Paul-Minneapolis (AP)—Rookie second baseman Bernie Allen rambled a 3-run home run into the right field bleachers with one out in the last of the 9th to give the Minnesota Twins a 10-7 victory over Detroit Sunday.

Allen, the Purdue University bonus boy, smacked relief pitcher Hank Aguirre's first pitch to him 350 feet for the deciding blow.

It was the 3rd straight game in which Twins' rookies had come up with the winning home runs. The victory, Minnesota's 7th in their last 8 games, gave the Twins a sweep of the 3-game series. It was Detroit's 5th straight loss.

Ray Moore, third Twins pitcher, got credit for the victory—his first. He retired all 5 batters who faced him.

Paul Foytack, making his first start, was the victim of a night-marish 5-run second inning. Earl Battey's two-out, bases loaded pop-up into short left dropped in for a two-run single. Zoilo Versalles followed with a 3-run home run into the leftfield bleachers.

Angels Top Orioles In 15-7 Rout

Los Angeles (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels tore into 6 Baltimore pitchers for 19 hits Sunday and completed a 3-game sweep by defeating the Orioles 15-7.

The Angels, picking up their 4th straight victory, pulled off their biggest inning of the season in the 5th, when they broke a 7-7 tie with 6 runs off Billy Hoelt and Bill Short.

Angel outfielder Lee Thomas had four singles and a double in six at-bats and drove in 4 runs. Catcher Bob Rodgers and shortstop Joe Koppe drove in 3 apiece. Rodgers had two doubles and two singles.

Brooks Robinson hit his second major league grand slam home off Angel starter Ken McBride.

Lefty Jack Spring, the third Los Angeles pitcher, held the Orioles hitless the last 4 2/3 innings and got the victory—his first decision this season. Hoelt, touched for 4 runs in 3 innings, took the loss. He is 0-2.

Mets Win On Hodges Single, 7-5

The Tigers hit Twins ace Camilo Pascual hard and chased him in the 7th. Pascual was tagged for 10 hits and 6 runs.

Detroit led 3-0 after Bill Bruton hit a two-run homer in the third inning. The Twins then went ahead 7-3 with the third inning explosion and two more runs in the 5th on Pascual's two-run double.

Detroit added a run in the 6th as Norm Cash doubled and Dick McAuliffe singled, and two in the 7th on Dick Brown's double and singles by Vic Wertz and Al Kaline.

Detroit tied it in the 8th as Steve Boros doubled and scored later on Rocky Colavito's fly which Lenny Green snared reaching above the fence.

Spotlight Turns To City Golf

Darrell Frenz demonstrated how to get a birdie the hard way to highlight Lincoln golf action this weekend.

Frenz, shooting at Park Valley, dropped his first shot on the 290-yard par 4, 5th hole into a creek. He found the lie playable and fired his iron onto the green 10-feet from the cup, then rammed home the putt for his birdie.

Other golf highlights:

Hillcrest CC

Don Lindegren fired a 69 to capture the Men's Sweepstakes event Sunday. John Switch and Bob Wise tied for first place in the Saturday sweepstakes with a pair of 69s.

Other low sweepstakes scores

Saturday—Glen King, Lowell Pasquale, 71; Sunday—Frank Goetz, Walt Mitchell, John Reinhardt, Lowell Pasquale, 70.

A men's stag will be held Wednesday with a Ladies Day planned for Thursday.

Park Valley

A Ladies Day will be held Tuesday morning at 9 a.m. Interested women are invited to attend.

Pioneers

Vern Peterson fired a 2-under-par 72 and followed with an even par round this week.

Irv Peterson and Joe Steskovich also matched par.

Play has been quite heavy nearly every day.

Golfers are reminded that the Nebraska College Conference tournament will be held on the Pioneers course May 10.

Thunder Ridge

Club pro Car Evans just missed a 319-yard hole in one Sunday. Evans fired a wood shot within 23 inches of the cup on the 6th hole.

Warren Webster turned in the week's best round with a 31-34. Gail Cane had a 31-37 and Jack Kramer notched a 37 for 9.

Golf Meeting

The city golf board will hold its spring meeting Tuesday night. Plans will be made for the annual city tournament.

BOBBY SHANTZ TO CARDINALS

Cincinnati (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz, the much-traveled left-handed pitcher, moved to the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday in a deal that sent outfielder Carl Warwick and relief pitcher John Anderson to the Houston Colts.

Shantz was expected to fill the Cardinals' need of a southpaw in the bullpen where right-handed Lindy McDaniel has been doing most of the work. Manager Johnny Keane and general Bing Devine of the Cards had their eyes on Shantz for many months.

The 5-7, 150-pound veteran had the distinction of being picked in both major league expansion drafts. The 36-year-old relief ace was drafted by Washington Dec. 14, 1960 for $75,000 off the list of the New York Yankees. Washington traded him to Pittsburgh two days later in the Bennie Daniels deal and Shantz had a 6-3 record with the Pirates in 1961.

When the National League held its expansion draft last Oct. 10, Shantz was selected by the new Houston club. He was the opening day pitcher and 11-2 winner over Chicago but failed to win in his two other starts. His record is 1-1 with 15 hits and only 3 earned runs in 20 1/3 innings for a 1.29 earned run average.

However, Cook failed to hit and manager Fred Hutchinson finally shifted his infield around to move Eddie Kasko from shortstop to 3rd base.

Cook led the American Association last year with 32 homers but he failed to hit safely in 5 at bats with the Reds this year.

Miller, a former Detroit Tiger bonus baby, has been with several clubs in recent years. He was 0-0 this year in 6 games as a relief man.

Mizell, a top lefty with St. Louis for several seasons, was a 14-game winner with the pennant-winning Pirates in 1960. He fell off to 7-10 last season.

The 32-year-old pitcher had a 1-1 record for Pittsburgh this year with 3 starts.

Zimmer, 31, was obtained by the Mets from the Chicago Cubs in the expansion draft last October. He had made only one hit in his last 38 trips after an excellent spring training record. His average is .077.

Marshall, 30, was purchased by the Mets from the San Francisco Giants last October. A left-handed hitter, he had been used as a pinch hitter and part time first baseman-outfielder and was hitting .344.

Mofoed, a relief pitcher who has been playing pro ball since 1947, was purchased from Rochester last December after a 15-13 year in the International. With the Mets he had an 0-1 record.

The Mets have 27 men and must cut down to the 25-man player limit by May 10.

Mizell Dons Met Uniform

Philadelphia (AP)—The New York Mets obtained left-handed pitcher Vinegar Bend Mizell from Pittsburgh and left-handed pitcher Bob Miller and 3rd baseman Cliff Cook from Cincinnati Sunday in two major league deals.

President George Weiss announced that 3rd baseman Don Zimmer had been traded to Cincinnati for Miller and Cook. Weiss said first baseman Jim Marshall had been sent to Pittsburgh for Mizell.

In another move, the Mets announced the return of Herb Moford, right-handed relief pitcher, to Rochester of the International League.

Cook, 25, voted the most valuable player in the American Association last year at Indianapolis, had been expected to take over the Red's third base job after Gene Freese suffered a broken leg in spring training.

However, Cook failed to hit and manager Fred Hutchinson finally shifted his infield around to move Eddie Kasko from shortstop to 3rd base.

Cook led the American Association last year with 32 homers but he failed to hit safely in 5 at bats with the Reds this year.

Turk Lown Rescues 5-3 White Sox Win

Boston (AP)—Grizzled Chicago veteran Turk Lown struck out 3 men in a row in a dramatic 9th inning rescue for a 5-3 victory over Boston Sunday, snapping a 3-game White Sox losing streak.

The Red Sox won their 4th in a row 3-2 in the doubleheader opener when Gary Geiger collected his first hit off a left-hander this season, a single to right center in the 7th inning.

With the potential tying run on first base, and nobody out, Lown came on from the bullpen in the 9th of the nightcap. He moved down Carroll Hardy and pinch-hitters Pumpsie Green and Lu Clinton via strikes. He was the 4th Chicago pitcher in the inning.

Going into the bottom of the 9th Boston trailed 5-0 and had managed only 3 singles off rookie changeup artist Joel Horlen. In fact, the Red Sox managed to get only one runner as far as 3rd base.

When Ed Bressoud opened with a sharp single to center and Horlen ran the count to 3-0 on Carl Yastrzemski, Chicago manager Al Lopez made the first of his changes.

Yastrzemski got a walk. Jim Pagliaroni doubled and Frank Malzone and Geiger each singled for a run apiece before Lown saved the day.

Floyd Robinson, American League leading batsman going into the day's action, helped Horlen by driving in two runs with a single and an infield out. Sherman Lollar rapped a two-run double.

Conley (3-2) surrendered a solo homer to Camilo Carreon in the 4th.

School Planning Problems Sometimes Follow Renewal

... EDUCATION OFFICIAL SAYS

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

The record shows that urban renewal projects present difficult planning problems for school officials, the chief of the U.S. Office of Education's school housing section said in an interview here.

The schoolman, Dr. John Cameron, explained that urban renewal, by displacing families, causes population shifts that make school enrollment projections uncertain.

With careful planning, he said, the number of families who will move back to renewed neighborhoods or to new areas can be foreseen, but time after time it doesn't happen that way.

This is why federal redevelopment agencies loan substantial amounts of money to communities to pay for their school construction plans and population estimates, Dr. Cameron said.

The subject of federal participation in public education led Dr. Cameron into an itemization of the government's other school aid projects.

Ag Influence

"The Department of Agriculture has influenced school design through its surplus foods program," he pointed out. Federally-influenced lunchroom design is "very common throughout the country," he said.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Forest Service, within the Interior Department, have had a vital role in school construction for years, he said.

The Atomic Energy Commission is involved in a way too; by planning the Los Alamos, N. Mex., city layout, Dr. Cameron noted.

All these programs are separate from the U.S. Office of Education's multiple construction involvement, he said. Among these are:

- the federally "impacted areas" school assistance program, which provides school construction money local taxpayers would otherwise have to contribute.
- the National Defense Education Act, which has a "tremendous influence" by allotting money on a matching basis for remodeling science, math and modern foreign language classrooms.
- its vocational education program, which "has influenced school design in agriculture and home economics."

Dr. Cameron noted that reliable studies have shown that "it really doesn't make very much difference" from a cost standpoint whether schools are built flat and wide or in multiple stories.

Trend Is Flat

The modern nationwide trend, however, is for elementary school buildings to stick to one-story construction except in highly concentrated cities. Secondary schools, too, are usually confined to no more than two-story academic wings, with the rest of the building flat, he said.

Advantages of low school buildings are, among others, no stairways and light walls. On the other hand, the school building chief said, the flatter buildings have more roof area and therefore more heat loss.

Cost-per-square-foot trends, while "very treacherous" because of widely varying conditions, he said, vary from $10 to $18 or $20, depending on snow loads, heat losses, labor unions, the projects size, and dozens of other factors.

Dr. Cameron was in Lincoln as a guest of the 8-State School Building Conference. The participants were staff members from the state boards of education in Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

They were united in their conviction that school boards, rather than architects, should decide the broad goals of their schools' construction. But too often, they feared, especially in rural communities, architects decide what sort of schools to build.

Freeman: No Evidence Ag Dept. Favored Estes

Washington (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman says government investigators have found no evidence that the department gave Billie Sol Estes "one bit of special favoritism or special privilege."

In fact, he said, the Texas promoter who is under indictment on fraud charges was forced to pay a marketing fee for planting more cotton than his allotment permitted.

Freeman made the statements in a television interview.

Freeman rejected charges by GOP congressional leaders that administration and congressional investigators don't seem too interested in looking into the Estes case.

The secretary said a Justice Department investigation resulted in the indictment. He also said inquiries by the FBI and Agriculture Department were continuing.

He challenged Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind., to come to his office with evidence that any department employee acted improperly in the Estes case.

If it were real evidence, and not "conjecture or innuendo," Freeman said, "I can assure them and you that action will be taken so fast it will make their head swim."

Freeman said Estes had not tampered at all with government surplus grain he contracted to store.

"We've got all the grain that was stored, the government grain is there and has been checked and is in good quality and he has not gotten anything to which he has not been entitled," the secretary said.

Four Hurt Slightly In Four-Car Crash

Four Lincoln women were slightly injured Sunday when the cars in which they were riding were involved in a 4-car chain-reaction collision at 33rd and Randolph.

Police identified them as Mildred Newsham, 22, of 842 So. 31st; Isobel W. Nobbman, 45, of 5628 Saylor; Sarah J. Brady, 24, of 2800 So. 34th; and Deanna D. Murphy, 21, of 302 So. 28th.

Officers said the 4 cars were in the north lane of traffic on Randolph, just east of 33rd and westbound when the accident occurred.

Investment Man Jefferson Martin, 72, Dies Sunday

Jefferson Davis Martin, 72, of 900 Fall Creek Road, in the investment business with E. E. Henkle and associates, died Sunday.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Rudge Memorial Chapel with burial in Wyuka.

He was born in Pulaski, Tenn. Before coming to Lincoln in 1929, Mr. Martin was in the insurance business in Chattanooga, Tenn. From 1929 to 1955 he managed the Coca Cola plant in Lincoln. He then became associated with the Henkle firm.

He was a member of First Presbyterian Church, Kiwanis, Sons of the American Revolution, the Salvation Army board and the managing board of the USO.

Survivors include his wife, Anna May; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Aitken of Lincoln; brothers, Frank W. David E. and Dr. W. W., all of Pulaski, Tenn., and Dr. Robert W. of Jacksonville, Fla.; and two granddaughters.

'Successor To Dr. Court As St. Paul Pastor By Summer'

The pastoral relations committee of St. Paul's Methodist Church "feels confident a successor to Dr. Frank A. Court will be found by early summer," Dr. Harold C. Sandall said late Sunday.

The Methodist district superintendent, reporting on St. Paul's 4th quarterly conference, said the committee is making a "thorough search" for a new pastor and realizes that speed is essential.

Last Sermon May 27

Dr. Court, who has accepted the post of pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Denver, will preach his last sermons in Lincoln on May 27.

During the conference Sunday evening, Dr. Sandall said, many statements of appreciation for the work and contributions of Dr. and Mrs. Court were made; the pastor reciprocated, thanking his congregation and all Lincolinites for their cooperation.

A budget of $93,700 was adopted for 1962-63. Of that total, approximately $25,000 will go to missions work.

Current membership of St. Paul's is 2,034; since June 1962, 170 persons have been received into church membership.

Bogar Re-elected

William Bogar was re-elected chairman of the official board.

Other Official Board officers re-elected were Ralph Beechner as vice president and Howard Petty as secretary.

Other officials elected include:

- Board of trustees—Irving Bloom, Walton Ferris, George A. Frampton, Albert Hoeck, Wilbur Miller, Fred S. Seacrest, Robert H. Talbot, A. Phillip Watkins, and J. Floyd McClain. Ex-officio members are Jack Stewart, secretary; Herbert W. Probasco, treasurer; and W. L. Greensill, insurance program head. Honorary members are Herbert Burger and Dr. J.E.M. Thomson.
- Sunday school superintendents—Mr. and Mrs. Dorell Grell.
- Director of youth work—Mrs. Keith Canfield.
- Chairman, board of Christian education—Dr. Floyd Miller.
- Commission chairmen—Les Curran, finance; Wyman B. Kenagy, Christian social relations; and Miss Marjorie Johnson, missions.
- Chairman of music committee—Mrs. Ralph Beechner.
- President of WSCS—Mrs. A. T. Holcomb.

The Rev. Norman E. Smith-gram is associate pastor.

Ex-NU Professor Will Talk About 'Africa's Surge'

A former University of Nebraska faculty member who has spent some time in Africa during the past 4 years will speak on "Africa's Surge for Independence" at 11 a.m. Wednesday in Love Memorial Library auditorium.

Thomas Franck, who was on Nebraska's faculty for two years, is now a professor of international law at New York University Law School. He holds the degree of doctor of jurisprudence in international law from Harvard.

In addition to his interest and experience in African affairs, Franck was also involved in the recent London conference of the British and the government of Kenya. He will be leaving again for Africa May 19.

CHEVROLET Now...beautiful buying days during Chevy's GOLDEN SALES JUBILEE!

Spring's a-wasting! So why wait any longer to satisfy that new-car urge of yours? Beautiful buys have busted out all over the place at your Chevrolet dealer's—in the best selection of sizes and sizzle you'll find anywhere. Like in fourteen Jet-smooth Chevrolets. Or eleven new-size Chevy II models with price, spice and everything nice. Or a whole crew of frisky Corvairs, including a sporty new Monza Convertible. So come on in and do your picking and choosing to your heart's (and budget's) content at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center.

NEW IMPALA SPORT COUPE

It couldn't look more like a convertible unless it were one!... This one's still got people doing double takes. A steel top molded into the crisp contours of a convertible. Chalk it up to Body by Fisher finesse. Then chalk up this Impala's rich appointments, stretch-out roominess and road-hushing Jet-smooth ride, and see if they don't add up to everything you expect in an expensive car—except the expense.

NEW CHEVY II NOVA STATION WAGON

Space and spice in a new kind of saver. And it's just one of three new Chevy II wagons. Very parkable. Very packable, too. Has a load floor that's over 9 ft. with second seat and tailgate down—long enough for most everything from building supplies to paddle boards. Lots of wagon at a low, low price.

NEW CORVAIR MONZA CLUB COUPE

Like your driving on the sporty side? A trim, sweet-handling, personal kind of car? Then that bucket seat behind the wheel of this Monza was made for you. Here's rear engine scampers wedded to the road with tenacious traction and quicksilver reflexes. And it's as easy to own as it is to drive.

NEW BEL AIR 4-DOOR SEDAN

This popular priced Jet-smoothie rides like a family room on wheels. (And it's so rich and roomy inside!) Got a mammoth cave of a trunk, too, with bumper-level loading and a handy deep well for bulky items. With all these family-fashioned virtues and a choice of six or V8 skedaddle, is it any wonder Chevrolet is America's favorite people-pleaser?

NEW IMPALA 6-PASSENGER STATION WAGON

Chevrolet wagoning at its most elegant. With up to a whopping 97.5 cu. ft. of cargo space—including a concealed compartment in the floor where you can stow your golf clubs and other valuables out of sight. And with that Jet-smooth ride, you get relaxed going—traveling loaded or light.

Blood Flows In Algeria Despite Accord

By DAVID MASON
Paris (AP) — More than 6 weeks after the Algerian peace accords went into effect as much blood as ever is flowing in Algeria's major cities.

Some Frenchmen are wondering if the vast territory's future — as neatly charted at the Evian peace conference — now will be thrown into doubt.

The Evian accords signed March 18 ended the more than 7-year-old guerrilla war between the Algerian nationalists and France. Moslem terrorism directed mainly at the European civilians virtually ended over night.

Moves To Fore
But a new guerrilla force — the European Secret Army Organization — moved to the fore with most of the one million Europeans cheering from the sidelines, if they weren't taking an active part in bombings and gangland-style shootings.

The Secret Army campaign is directed squarely at the Moslems, but if the 400,000-man French army and police forces get in the way they catch Secret Army bullets as well.

The underlying strategy of the Secret Army appears clearly aimed at rousing mass retaliation from the Moslems. Although the game seems to present real hazards to the Europeans themselves, Secret Army strategists obviously hope that any uprising by the Moslems would be short and held in check by French troops.

Thus the old adversaries — the French army and the Moslems — would be glaring down gun barrels at each other again and the Evian accords would be a scap of paper, Algerian self determination, leading almost certainly to Moslem rule of Algeria, would be blocked. This last is the Secret Army goal.

The situation in Algeria became so critical last week that both the French government and the Algerian provisional government — set up by the Evian accords to represent both Moslems and Algerians — felt it necessary to spell out publicly that the Evian pact would indeed be fully applied.

If this was intended to be a psychological shock to the Secret Army, there was no immediate evidence that it was having deep effect. Terrorism still was claiming more than a score of persons a day, mostly Moslems.

Would Reel
There was some opinion expressed that the Secret Army would be sent reeling when its two top leaders — ex-generals Raoul Salan and Edmond Jouhaud — were captured recently. But if anything, Secret Army activists have become more brutal and daring.

Moslems in Algeria who have refrained from retaliatory attacks are restless. "This can't go on eternally," said one furious Moslem nationalist in Algiers.

No Holiday For Terror

Algiers (AP) — Algerian Europeans swarmed to the beaches Sunday but death from terrorism took no holiday.

By comparison with the daily death toll from extremist attacks, however, it was one of the calmest days in weeks.

Four Moslems were killed and 7 wounded in Algiers. One European and one Moslem were shot down in Oran.

Scattered attacks took a toll of 11 dead throughout the country — 8 Moslems and 3 Europeans. Five Moslems and a European were wounded.

One victim was a Moslem woman, about 45, who was shot through the head in the Bab El Oued quarter, long a Secret Army stronghold.

A bomb exploded in a home owned by a Moslem in suburban Algiers, causing heavy damage but hurting no one.

Reports from the town of Berard, 50 miles west of Algiers, said a European woman was slain with several blows of a hatchet and knife. There were no witnesses.

Telephone communications from Algiers to metropolitan France and elsewhere in Algeria were restricted. A number of telephone operators were unable to report for duty because they live in a section of Algiers sealed off by security forces conducting a search for arms.

Leonard Smith Letter Carriers' New President

Norfolk (AP) — Leonard Smith of Lincoln was elected president of the Nebraska chapter of the National Association of Letter Carriers as the group wound up its two-day convention Sunday.

Other officers include Donald Knapp of Hastings, vice president; Victor Shada of Kearney, treasurer, and Francis W. Eckhard of Seward, secretary.

The auxiliary, meeting in conjunction with the association, picked Arlene Reher of Grand Island as president. Other officers include Bernice Benker of Omaha, vice president; Ellen Howe of Fremont, secretary, and Doris Smith of Lincoln, treasurer.

Scottsbluff was selected for the 1963 convention.

Iberian-Touring Newsboys Visit Madrid 'Flea Market'

By ANDRE DEL AMO
Madrid (UPI) — Eighty-six touring American newsboys — guests of Parade magazine — spent a typical Spanish Sunday here.

Among the newsboys are Terry Ladman of Friend, a carrier of The Lincoln Star, and Kenneth S. Copple of 5300 Everett, a carrier of The Lincoln Journal.

They started the day with a morning visit to Madrid's famed Rastro ("flea market"), where an occasional masterpiece of art or valuable antique turns up lurking behind piles of bolts, nuts, used tires and second hand clothing.

American 'Torero'
After a morning of tramping through the Rastro, they were given an early afternoon lesson in the fine Spanish art of bullfighting — from an American "torero."

It was the third day in Spain for the 86 boys who range in age from 12 to 20. They flew here Thursday night as guests of the Sunday supplement magazine, which rewarded them for being top newspaper subscription solicitors in their home towns with a trip to the Iberian peninsula.

Most of the youngsters enjoyed Saturday's trip to Toledo, famed center of sword making.

Egg-Eater Impressed
Michael Moore, 15, a delivery boy for the Springfield (Ohio) News-Sun, who has been eating an average of 8 eggs every morning since he got to Spain, was impressed by "the way they do things" at the sword factories.

At lunch Sunday the 86 members of the "Young Columbus" tour were given an informal lecture on bull fighting by American bull fighter David Moss, 27, of Los Angeles, Calif. He has been fighting bulls here for more than two years.

His lengthy explanation of the intricacies of the art wound up with several illustrations of the different passes with the cape. The talk was so well-received by the boys that Moss had difficulty ending the discussion session.

Collared Squirrel Cut Free

This baby squirrel found a round meat bone and took it home. He ate his way through it and found he had a collar. He is shown in his dilemma atop a tree house, upper left, in the yard of George Moon of Flint, Mich., who realized the rapidly growing young squirrel was starving to death. Moon trapped the squirrel in the house and brought them both down and snipped him free. Closeup of bone collared squirrel, upper right, snipped free, lower left, and uncollared infant ready to go back to tree home, which he did.

JACKIE VISITS FATHER-IN-LAW

New York (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy made a two-hour visit to her ailing father-in-law, Joseph P. Kennedy, Sunday. Afterwards the President's wife told newsmen the elder Kennedy was "fine, thank you."

Kennedy is being treated here for the after-effects of a stroke.

The First Lady checked in at the Hotel Carlyle after seeing him.

Auctioneers Pick Helberg As Chief

Albion (AP) — The Nebraska Auctioneers Association wound up its annual convention Sunday by electing Glen Helberg of North Platte as president.

Other officers named included: Frank Diercks of Gordon, first vice president; Dean Fleming of Atkinson, second vice president, and Dick Dolan of North Platte, secretary.

Ed Morris of Ashland, Dick Shea of Sterling and Ron Woodward of Broken Bow were named to the board of directors.

The group made plans for the national auctioneers convention in Lincoln July 19-21.

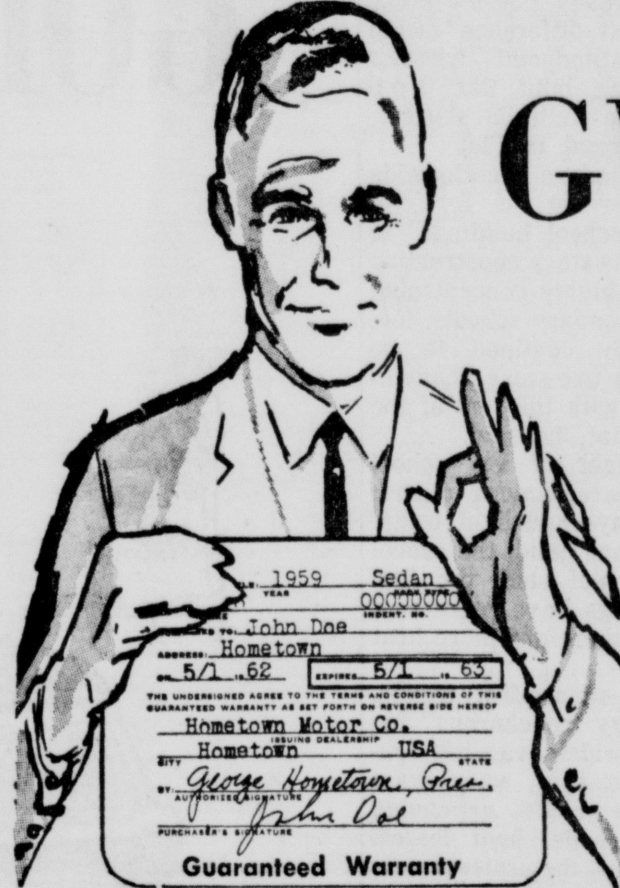

'TB And Hepatitis Six Times Higher In Blighted Areas'

Cases of tuberculosis and infectious hepatitis in Lincoln were nearly 6 times as numerous in substandard housing areas as they were in sound areas, the Organization for Urban Renewal reported Sunday.

The organization, campaigning for approval by voters of the creation of an Urban Renewal Authority, said the study of 1961 statistics was made to determine the relationship between housing conditions and the occurrence of disease. In the case of TB and hepatitis, a definite relationship was found, the organization said.

MR. ADVERTISER: HERE'S A PRESCRIPTION for more sales. Take something that is wanted or needed, mix in a generous bit of good service and attractive packaging, and stir up interest with a price that means good value. Then add ...the vital ingredient. Tell everybody what you're selling, why it's good value, and where they can buy it. Then put it all together in an advertising message and place it in the daily newspaper.

The newspaper takes your sales story into nearly 9 out of 10 homes every day.* If your sales are in a slump, if you're suffering from the nagging discomfort of "tired inventory," a good dose of vital look-alive newspaper advertising may be just what the doctor ordered.

TWO Test Foe

... SAW 'N' GOD OR ANGELS' DURING ORBITS

Seattle (AP)—Russian space-man Gherman Titov in effect urged an end Sunday to all nuclear tests after visiting the Seattle World's Fair.

He said a cosmic radiation exhibit, a cloud chamber showing alpha and beta particles and cosmic rays in the atmosphere, struck him most forcefully.

"It shows that we already receive a lot of radiation on earth, and we must not add to this radiation by exploding atomic bombs anywhere," Titov said.

The United States recently resumed atmospheric nuclear testing in the Pacific after failing to reach agreement with Russia on a workable test ban. The Soviets broke a 3-year moratorium last year with a series of more than 30 tests.

Disclaims Belief

Earlier, he used the Sabbath to disclaim his belief in God, and said he saw "no God or angels" during his 17 orbits of earth.

The question came up at a news conference whether the 25 hours he spent in space had changed his philosophy or way of thinking.

"Some people say there is a God out there," the 17-year-old Soviet martyr replied through an interpreter. "But in my travels around the earth all day long I looked around and didn't see him. I saw no God or angels."

"Up to our first orbital flight by Yuri Gagarin no God helped build our rocket. The rocket was made by our people. I don't believe in God. I believe in man, his strength, his possibilities and his reason."

Saw U. S. Exhibit

Titov expounded on his materialistic faith after he and his wife had spent nearly two hours touring the comprehensive U. S. science exhibit at the fair. They were personally conducted by Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus, federal commissioner of the exhibit.

Before the brief news conference a 12-year-old Seattle girl, Mary Schiessl, served Titov a piece of coffee cake and was presented with a small fountain pen in turn as a souvenir.

"I give you this so that when you go to space you will give your first pen to me," the smiling curly-haired Russian told her.

Simulated Trip

Titov took a simulated trip a billion billion miles into outer space in the science pavilion's spacarium, but said the moving picture did not depict the return to earth the way he saw it when he finished his space flight.

"I couldn't see all of the earth as you would from outer space," he said. "The height of my capsule was lower and the angle of the earth's dimension different."

Titov praised the $6 million U. S. science display, saying he "liked it very much" and felt it was something everyone should see.

Krivoshva And Olney Debate Renewal Plan

Figures don't bear out statements that Lincoln is taking care of its redevelopment without urban renewal, according to Norman Krivoshva, Lincoln attorney.

Speaking on KFMQ's Equal Time Sunday evening, Krivoshva said:

"We are not voting May 15 on any other aspect than whether or not an urban renewal authority should be created."

"We are not determining any other question than should the City Council appoint an authority."

Countering the statements made by Krivoshva was Dr. R. C. Olney, Lincoln doctor.

According to Dr. Olney urban renewal is "not a local issue." Urban renewal "can't help being part of a national program," he said.

"It's impossible for the urban renewal program to act in Lincoln without being part of federal control."

Dr. Schwarz Launches His Omaha School

Omaha (AP) — Dr. Frederick Schwarz arrived in Omaha to take charge of the Midwest School of Anti-Communism which starts Monday at City Auditorium.

Dr. Schwarz shrugged off opposition to the school with the comment that "the very opposition is a sign of progress." He added that carrying Communists in America are spending more of their time criticizing his fight which he termed an indication that he is succeeding.

The Australian-born Dr. Schwarz said the aim of his campaign is to stimulate persons into action.

He added that he would like to see scores of schools fighting communism and competing with his own. He said he would like to see every church, labor union and civic club in the fight against communism.

Dr. Schwarz said: "I don't suggest everyone join my crusade."

Militar Slates Pi Kappa Lambda Initiation Speech

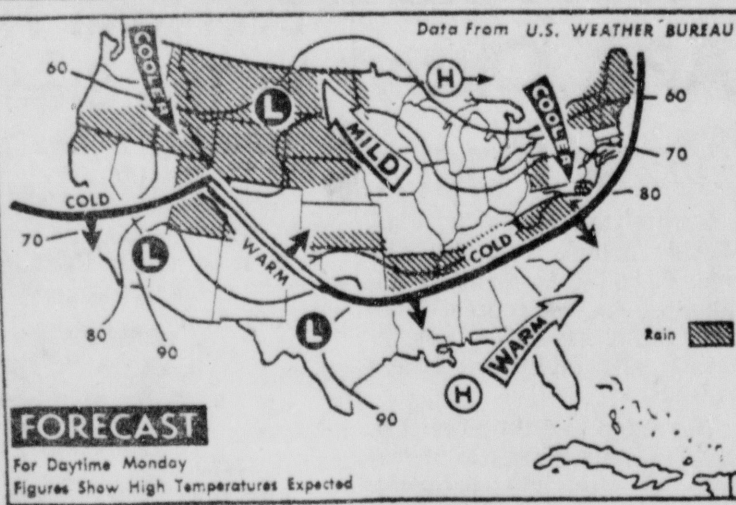

Dr. Walter E. Militzer, dean of the University of Nebraska College of Arts and Sciences, will be guest speaker at the initiation service of Pi Kappa Lambda, music honorary, Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Nebraska Union.

The subject of Dean Militzer's speech will be "Bridging the Sciences and Humanities." The program also will include songs by Ruth Stephenson, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Fritz.

Six graduate students and 7 seniors will be initiated. They are:

Michael O. Johnson of Ida Grove, Iowa; Maxine Stone of Norfolk, Nebraska; Zigmund of Leam, Ohio; and Desha, Walter Ross and Jocelyn Sack, both of Lincoln.

Officer of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Judy Lawrence of Bellevue, Neb.; Lawrence, Kay Green of Hastings, Neb.; and Robert Person and Sherry Pelton, all of Lincoln.

RAIN IN FORECAST

Rain is expected Monday in the northern Plains and southern portions of the northern Plateau and Pacific Northwest. Scattered showers are forecast over the central Rockies, with snow flurries at higher Rockies' elevations and in parts of New England. Thundershowers are expected in the central Rockies and from the lower Mississippi valley and Tennessee valley into the mid-Atlantic coast. Widely scattered thundershowers are forecast for the southern Plains and north central Gulf coast. Cooler weather is expected for the northern Plateau and the upper Atlantic coast states. Venezuela Won't Be 2nd Cuba

Caracas, Venezuela (P) — The crushing of a pro-communist uprising at Carupano "proves Venezuela will not be a second Cuba," Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez declared Sunday.

A land, sea and air assault on Carupano — scene of the uprising that began Friday — brought an end Saturday night to the revolt of a 400-man marine garrison and about 50 military policemen.

The government said the revolt leader, Navy Cmdr. Jesus Molina Villegas, is under arrest with other rebel officers aboard a Navy destroyer anchored off Carupano, about 300 miles east of here.

Brief Battle

The fighting that smashed the revolt apparently was brief with rebels surrendering before a 3-prong ground assault and aerial strafing and bombardment.

The government said its forces lost 2 dead and 10 wounded. Unofficial reports placed overall casualties between 5 to 40 dead and 30 to 150 wounded.

Perez said lack of military and public support — especially among the peasants — was a factor in the victory over the rebels.

Hoped To Spark

He said leaders of the Communist Party and the pro-Castro Movement of Revolutionary Left (MIR) had hoped to spark a full-scale revolution to unseat President Romulo Betancourt, a chief foe of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in Latin America.

"The extremists were able to turn the heads of a handful of officers," Perez told reporters. "Their failure to gain any popular support, especially among peasants, shows Venezuela cannot be Cubanized."

Officials indicated the revolt could have been defeated earlier, but the military commanders stopped outside Carupano to plan strategy on how to take the city without endangering the lives of the 16,500 inhabitants.

Congratulations

Betancourt sent messages of congratulations to the government forces for their "loyalty to the flag and their constitutional duty."

In this capital, leftist civilian supporters of the revolt fired on police and troops. They also burned 30 cars and buses and scattered time bombs.

Police rounded up alleged communist plotters in raids on at least 6 buildings in Caracas.

British, Soviet Pianists Tie In Tchaikovsky Test

Moscow (P) — Britain's John Ogdon and Vladimir Ashkenazi of Russia were acclaimed Monday joint winners in the Soviet Union's second International Tchaikovsky Piano Contest. Pretty Susan Starr of Philadelphia shared second prize with Chin Tsung of Red China.

The awards were announced 2½ hours after the final pair of the 12 contestants had finished their performances.

Ogdon and Ashkenazi are both 25 and both married. Miss Starr, a blue-eyed brunette is 19 and her co-winner is 21.

First prize brings 2,500 rubles (about $2,800). Second prize brings 2,000 rubles (about $2,200). One quarter of the prize is given in foreign currency and the rest must be spent in the Soviet Union.

First and second places are the coveted awards, and the announcement made by Emil Gilels, Russian chairman of the jury, brought a blast of cheering from an audience gathered in a small hall adjoining the big Moscow conservatory where the contest was run off.

American pianist Van Cliburn won the contest in 1958, its first year. The bushy-haired young Texan took Moscow by storm with his playing.

The contest began early in April with awards going to pianists, cellists, and violinists but ever since Cliburn won the first piano title and became a big time drawing card, the piano prize had been the one to look for.

The two first prize winners could hardly be more different. Ashkenazi is a frail, thin-faced slender man with a mop of brown hair and a shy, friendly smile. Ogdon is a heavy-set, thick-waisted man whose heavy hands surprised the audience with their delicate skill in playing Liszt and Tchaikovsky concertos with which he won his share of first place.
